

LEGISLATORS SEEK WALTON'S SCALP

Continue Plans for Impeachment; Walton Also Busy

Oklahoma Governor Gathers Strength for Final Drive on Ku Klux Klan—House Will Convene Monday.

(By The Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21.—Legislators seeking the official head of Governor J. C. Walton marched on today in their plans for impeachment. The executive gathered strength for a final drive on the K. K. K., which he blames for the storm that has broken about him. The lower house of the Oklahoma legislature will convene at noon Wednesday to consider charges that Walton has set in naught constitutional government and if the governor interferes with the meeting "he acts at his peril." This was the pronouncement of legislators who will seek the governor's impeachment. Walton's final attitude towards the House session was expected to be developed during today but his legislative enemies were confident he would not carry out his threat to call the members if they attempted to assemble. Since voicing his threat some of the governor's advisers have advised him to permit the session to go on as planned. It would be illegal and without effect. However, the final word remains to be spoken and the threat has not been withdrawn. Admitting the fight was weighing heavily on him, the governor sent out an appeal for funds, asking those who believe in a representative form of government to send contributions to Mrs. Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City, wife of the executive's counselor. Blake is now absent from the state on a mission for the governor. C. J. Cawley, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the Klan, and his associates, "both have turned the fight over to the Klan newspapers and the Klan members of the legislature," Walton asserted.

LEGISLATORS GATHER IN DEFIANCE OF WALTON

(By The Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21.—State legislators are gathering in the House today in defiance of Governor Walton's "martial law" restrictions, openly criticizing and condemning the extraordinary session of the lower house which has been called for next Wednesday to start impeachment proceedings. The legislative situation is running away from the executive control, despite martial law and unless he can find some way to stem the tide, legal or otherwise, "People's government" may find himself driven from office for misuse of his power. Sixty-eight legislators have signed the call for the special session. These include Republicans, Farmer-Labor, Democratic and Conservative Democrats. A majority in the House is 34.

W. D. McEneaney, member of the lower House, from Duncan, took the initiative in issuing the call today after he had been informed that the governor had determined to call a special session himself and thus invalidate this one and make impeachment impossible to consider.

Following this the "rebel members" led by J. H. Gibson, a "convict" member who knows the use of guns, sat around their headquarters in the Hotel Skirvin, a block from the military headquarters and invited arrest. Attorneys and legislators on the governor's side of the fence predicted that he would not use force in preventing the meeting of the legislators. "He will ignore the session as invalid. I do not think he will try to arrest anyone," said Murray Gibbons, speaker of the House. Mr. Gibson, an ally of the governor, declared the session would be illegal.

No one can foretell the actions of this governor. He is as impulsive as a boy. He may issue a statement today that he will not interfere with the session and then proceed to do so at the last minute.

The governor calls this legislative move a Klan move but this attitude on his part has been somewhat weakened by the statement of a "committee" of seven rebel legislators today. The statement follows:

"We desire to go on record as favoring an investigation through proper civil channels, of charges of derelictions of various county officials in law enforcement and of a law enacted at the earliest possible moment, a law prohibiting the wearing of masks, of masked assemblies, and rigid prohibitions, with severe penalties, of any meetings or mob violence in any form."

This law can not be passed at the extraordinary session however. There are conservative klansmen and radical klansmen in the legislature. The Farmer-Labor group, who charge that Walton betrayed them, will act with the klansmen.

Convict Mutiny Story Is Told to Grand Jury

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 21.—The Jefferson county grand jury today heard the story of a convict mutiny at the state prison here on Sept. 10 from A. L. Boyd, president of the Board of Convict Supervisors ordered leaders of the mutiny whipped after a personal investigation of the trouble. No details of his testimony were available to the public. Before entering the grand jury he refused to discuss the matter with newspapermen.

STIRRING GERMAN NATIONALISM

The dedication of monuments to dead German war heroes, and the observance of patriotic holidays, have been made the occasion for the stirring of German nationalistic feeling. General von Ludendorff has been the leader on many such occasions. Photo shows him (right) with Prince Henry, brother of the former kaiser, at the dedication of a monument to fallen aviators in the Rhine mountains.

Secretary Watkins of Commerce Chamber Tenders Resignation

Will Not Be Candidate Again and Serve Notice He Will Resign When Term Expires on December 31st.

Henry B. Watkins has tendered his resignation as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to W. P. Boatwright, president of that organization, to become effective on December 31, the date on which his present term will expire.

Mr. Watkins' letter of resignation which went forward yesterday to Mr. Boatwright is as follows:

"Mr. W. P. Boatwright, President, Danville Chamber of Commerce, Danville, Va.
"My dear Sir:
"As I have concluded not to be a candidate for office of the secretary of the Danville Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting for the election of officers in January next, and desiring to give you and the board ample time to secure a satisfactory man for the position, I hereby tender my resignation as secretary effective December 31, 1923.

"Very truly yours,
"H. B. WATKINS, Secretary."

As seen no reason is given in the letter for Mr. Watkins' decision to terminate a highly useful service he has rendered the organization for the past eight years. He was asked this morning just what prompted him to resign and he said that he found the work too confining and that as his health had not been very good recently he thought that larger opportunities to be out in the open would be beneficial to him. He said that he proposed first of all to take a rest and then would engage in some other business. He is already considering a number of propositions which appeal to him and which he believes will suit him better.

Mr. Watkins said this morning that he was sorry to terminate the warm association he has had with the board of directors during the past several years and added that he expected to remain a member of the organization and to work for it to the best of his ability.

Mr. Watkins succeeded L. M. Ward as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce eight years ago. He has been an influential factor in building up the organization to a point where its income was larger than any time previously, since the membership which is now 312. When he first took hold of it the association's roster contained about 200 names. During the past several years, Mr. Watkins has been an ardent booster for Danville and has taken a prominent part in many local undertakings in which the organization played a leading role. These included drives of one kind and another and a multitude of public meetings. The Chamber of Commerce has stood behind a number of progressive movements and it was on the shoulders of Henry B. Watkins that much of the hard work fell.

News of Mr. Watkins' resignation was heard generally today and brought forth regretful expressions that he had found it advisable to resign.

Town Topics

The civil term of the Corporation court was adjourned by Judge Withers this morning. The next session will be the criminal term beginning on the first Monday in October. Julian W. Fretwell who lost his case in the unlawful detainer action instituted by J. W. Via, yesterday gave bond in the sum of $1,000. Julian C. Jordan security, and will appeal the case to the Virginia Court of Appeals. He has 60 days in which to prepare his exceptions. The case will be docketed on the Supreme Court calendar and may not be reached for an adjudication before the lapse of 12 months.

The public welfare committee of the city council held a meeting yesterday and adopted a report presented by the city home mission this recommending the River road bluff site for the proposed city home. The committee did not remain in session longer than five minutes, simply hearing the report of the commission in which it was stated that organization had been perfected and that after viewing all available sites they had come to the conclusion that the River road tract was the best one. The public welfare committee then concurred in the report and it will be presented to the next council meeting. It now seems unlikely that a special session of the council will be held and it will be acted on in October.

Mrs. J. E. Dix and her small child, who was struck by street car number 64 yesterday afternoon, are today suffering no ill effects. They were merely knocked down by the slow moving car which was in charge of Motorman R. S. Blackstock and Conductor L. C. Harris. The accident occurred in front of the Municipal building. The child had fallen down and Mrs. Dix was stooping over to pick it up. The car was then started and the front end protruded out far enough to strike Mrs. Dix, knocking her and the child down. The street car had almost stopped to discharge and take in passengers and neither were injured.

The proposed formal opening of the new handstand at Schofield will depend very much on the state of the elements at half past seven o'clock, the hour set for the concert. Professor Joseph Vezetti, director of the Schofield band, said this morning, "It is raining, he said, the concert will be given at the same hour tomorrow. Professor Vezetti has arranged a fine program for tonight's event, this to include military marches, and some selections from the better light operas with vocal accompaniment. The band stand, which has been accepted by the mill corporation, was built at a cost of $7,500 by H. A. Osborne & Son on plans prepared by Heard and Chesler. The structure has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 25 feet, having accommodation for fifty players. One of the features is a spruce wood sounding board which will render the music best heard in the park across the street in front of the band stand.

The sub-committee of the charter revision commission held a meeting last night and drew up suggestions as to the method of procedure in the revision of the charter. It was decided to hold the next full meeting of the commission on Tuesday week, at which time this report will be considered also the suggestions which have been made by citizens and the commission were requested to call the public to its first meeting. About half a dozen suggestions have been received by mail and all of them will receive attention. Further suggestions as to provisions of the charter are being urged in order that the commission may have new ideas to work on.

Neither B. R. Powell of Gretna nor F. D. Lumpkin appeared in the police court yesterday. The date on which the recent police assault case was to be heard has been postponed. It was the chief of police said today, that the case was not called. No other date has been set for the hearing. Mr. Bell this morning expressed doubt if the assault case could properly be tried in the police court.

Mrs. N. W. Robertson and Miss L. N. Chappell, both of Blanche, N. C., were brought to Edmunds Hospital yesterday to be treated for injuries sustained during the morning when the automobile in which they were riding left the road near Blanche on a curve and turned over. Mrs. Robertson is suffering from an injured shoulder and collar bone and Miss Chappell from cuts and bruises. Both were badly shocked as result of the mishap. An examination by X-ray to determine just what their hurts are.

James Neal and a party of ladies and children had narrow escapes from serious injury yesterday afternoon at the intersection of West Main and Mt. Vernon avenue when, while seated in a car parked by the curb the machine was hit by a motor truck filled with coal bearing the name of the Danville Wood and Coal Company. None of the occupants of the car was injured and the machine was badly damaged. The accident happened at a time when the street was not congested.

ANTHRACITE SHORTAGE DOUBTED BY COULDING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The cessation in production of anthracite coal since Sept. 1, when the agreement between the miners and operators expired, will not have any material effect upon the season's output, it was said today by President Coolidge. The President does not believe that the public will be inconvenienced by a shortage, now that the miners have gone back to work.

There is always some period of inactivity in the coal fields during the production season, it was said at the White House, but the fact that the cessation occurred will result in affording greater employment to the miners from now on.

No Longer Advocate of Body; Attacks Republican Party

Publishers' Ass'n. Agree To Proposal

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A meeting here this afternoon of the three representatives of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union and three members of the New York Publishers Association will draw up a contract between the two organizations whereby members of the international will man the presses deserted Monday night by members of the local union. Lester Jones, executive secretary of the Publishers Association, announced that the Association which was in session to midnight and again this morning had adjourned without definitely agreeing to the proposal submitted yesterday by G. J. Berry of the International. "We expect, however," he said, "to get some sort of a contract signed at the committee meeting this evening."

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Members of the Publishers Association considering the proposal submitted yesterday by the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union whereby the International would undertake to man the presses of leading local papers deserted Monday night by members of the local union today agreed to the provision of the proposal concerning wages and working hours it was learned from a reliable source.

Dock Strike May Spread

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—All branches of the Maritime Transport workers department of the I. W. W., throughout the country, were voting today to determine if they would join the New Orleans branches in a sympathetic strike with 3,000 longshoremen and crewmen who walked out last week, local headquarters announced today.

Educational Ass'n Meeting On Today

(By The Associated Press)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 21.—Arrangements were completed today for the opening of the Western Divisional meeting of the North Carolina Educational Association which meets this afternoon. Hundreds of teachers from western Carolina reached the city today and it is expected that 1,300 teachers from 14 counties will be present at the general meeting this evening and tonight.

Explosion Death Toll Reaches Four

Legion Takes Up Case of Death of N. C. Seaman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Protests of the Wilmington, N. C., Post American Legion that the body of E. L. Vane, said to have been a seaman, had been shipped to his home in Freeman, N. C., from the Veterans' Bureau hospital at Palo Alto, Calif., with a C. O. D. marked $245, attached to the coffin had been received at the Veterans' Bureau today. Director Hines showed considerable interest in the case and said an investigation would be made to determine if the seaman was beneficiary of the bureau. At the Navy Department no record was found of Vane having been in service.

THREE BOYS LIVE BUT MOTHER DIES

(By The Associated Press)
OXFORD, N. C., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Margaret Hester Ramsey, 35, is dead here today but three boys have been saved from a gasoline fire. The fire broke out in her home in Freeman, N. C., from the Veterans' Bureau hospital at Palo Alto, Calif., with a C. O. D. marked $245, attached to the coffin had been received at the Veterans' Bureau today. Director Hines showed considerable interest in the case and said an investigation would be made to determine if the seaman was beneficiary of the bureau. At the Navy Department no record was found of Vane having been in service.

HUSBAND WON'T TALK SO SHE ASKS DIVORCE

(By The Associated Press)
SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 21.—Because her husband had been on "suspense strike" for the past 29 years, Mrs. Nettie F. Hammerly asks for a divorce from Henry Hammerly. Mr. and Mrs. Hammerly were married in 1899 and have 10 children. Mrs. Hammerly says her husband has refused to talk to her for a fifth of a century except in cases of absolute necessity and that their conversations have been carried on through their children.

Trip Abroad and Greco-Italian Dispute Changed Aspect of League—Campaign Policy on Present Administration's Failure to Achieve.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama's candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is no longer a strong advocate of the League of Nations. He is credited by the Chicago Tribune as saying in an interview: "I am no longer a strong advocate of the League of Nations. My original views are well known. However, on my trip abroad I saw the league at work. Developments then and subsequently have changed my attitude. The failure of the league to function in the dispute between Italy and Greece had much to do with the change."

The senator also said he did not think the league would be an issue in the approaching presidential campaign. "The present administration's lack of definite foreign policy and its failure to achieve any notable accomplishment at home will furnish the best Democratic campaign material," the senator was quoted as declaring.

EXISTING DISPUTES CHANGE HIS ATTITUDE

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Declaring himself in fine health after a fishing and hunting vacation at Eagle river, Wis., Senator Oscar W. Underwood, believed by Democratic followers the logical candidate for president next year, stopped off in Chicago tonight on his way back to Washington. Mrs. Underwood accompanied him. The senator, who recently returned from an extended tour of European countries where he observed the working of the League of Nations, took occasion to deny reports that he is an advocate of the League. Although he was one of the original supporters of the League in the United States Senate subsequent developments, particularly the failure of the League to function during the existing dispute between the Italian and Greek nations have changed his attitude.

Asked what he thought would be the outstanding issue in the coming campaign Senator Underwood said that the present administration's lack of definite foreign policy and its failure of notable accomplishments at home would furnish the best Democratic campaign material.

Five Others in Hospital in Critical Condition—Those Who Lost Lives Were Experts Completing Experiment to Save Gasoline.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The death early today of James E. Kennedy, of Salunga, Pa., one of the bureau of standards experts, injured in the laboratory explosion yesterday, brought the number killed to four. Five others injured in the accident remain in the hospital today in more or less critical condition.

The four experts who lost their lives and the five others injured had just completed experiments, which are expected to save 500,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year. A study of evaporation bureau officials said the laboratory force had discovered methods for preventing waste from this cause and had prepared charts of great economic value. The experiments had been proceeding for several months it was said and had just reached a stage of a final report on the findings. Another task recently undertaken by the victims of the explosion was the testing of the causes of the early death of J. E. Kennedy. The bureau had ordered an investigation of the accident, which officials believe was caused by an accumulation of gas set off in some manner by a spark. The exact cause was expected to remain in doubt, however, until the injured have recovered sufficiently to be questioned.

DEATH OF DANIEL BIVINS

The death occurred last night at 3 o'clock of Daniel Bivins at his home on Henry street. Deceased who was 65 years of age, had been in declining health for two years. The funeral arrangements had not been made this morning, and will be announced later. Fairview lots $5.00 down $2.00 w.k. 15.00 at Gravelly Bros. 9 to 10 a. m. 9-14 B 101

Negro Boy Hides Under Bus Seat

When the members of the Danville Business and Professional Women's Club take a trip to Martinsville, they sometimes do something out of the ordinary is bound to happen. Last Spring, the club, en masse, was the guest of the Martinsville club. On the return trip the members were held up by prohibition officers much to the delight of the members who, in making a report of the occurrence afterwards, praised highly the courtesy and consideration of the prohibition officers.

Yesterday the same sort of trip was made to Martinsville by the local club. A local bus being chartered and 17 making the trip. Nothing happened on the way up, though every one was on the qui vive for something to occur. Nothing beyond a very pleasant social evening happened in Martinsville. But, when the return trip was being made, anticipations were averted.

The club members were not disappointed. Somewhere along the route a young woman discovered that the seat of the bus moved and vibrated to impulses other than imparted by the bumps in the highway. A hurried investigation led her to believe that there was something alive under the seat. This belief she imparted to her fellow travelers—and there was much commotion. The bus was stopped and the ladies left the machine without further ado and not much of that. The driver of the bus, Mr. Gregory, investigated. He removed the seat and underneath was a small negro boy.

Upon being questioned the boy said that he had crawled under the seat in Martinsville and had gone to sleep. He added that his mother had whipped him and that he had run away from home and hidden in the bus, where slumber overcame him. It was suggested then and there that the Business and Professional Women's club adopt the lad and see to his upbringing, but difficulties to this procedure immediately presented themselves, and the proposition was abandoned.

Mr. Gregory stated that he would bring the boy to Danville, provide him a bed and food and take him back today to his mother in Martinsville, where, alas, it is feared another tanning is in prospect.

Telephone Girl, For 45 Years; Calls Talkers Bad Tempered

CONVENT, N. J., Sept. 21.—The original "hello girl" hasn't said "good-bye" yet. After 45 years at the switchboard, she's still on the job listening in on the world asking the same old questions, receiving the same old answers, in much the same old way.

But Mary Beatrice Kennedy, the first girl to put the smile in the voice, no longer sits in a bustle-skirt at an old-fashioned switchboard in the New York "Nassau" exchange. She's now plugging in at a desk in the College of St. Elizabeth where she is telephone operator and chaperone.

"The times have changed," she says, "and the telephone has improved, but not so the people's temper."

"Why, I got my job because the telephone company was tired of firing its boy operators for swearing at the subscribers who grew irate at the poor service."

"If you think you're getting poor service today, you should have tried it in the eighties."

"Near riots were almost daily happenings in the outer office of our exchange. Subscribers came down to fight the operator who had sworn at them and had given directions as to where he wished they would go."

"The boys soon made it impossible for them to hold the jobs as operators, and girls took their places. I was the first to get the job, and went to work just 45 years ago this month. The boys were all jealous of me, but I didn't mind. They were soon all fired."

Alexander G. Bell, inventor of the telephone, often came down to the exchange where Miss Kennedy worked. Sometimes he was accompanied by Thomas A. Edison.

"But we didn't pay much attention to him," she says. "He wasn't famous then."

"What time is it, Central?" she says. "What's the weather prediction?"

said Miss Kennedy, "used to be most frequently asked. And 'How much are eggs selling' was another favorite."

"Where is the fire, please?" hadn't come into vogue yet.

"And nobody asked for the baseball score or prizefight results."

"Calling a number was unheard of in the early days. Subscribers simply called for Smith's drug store or Jones' grocery or this or that building on Broadway at such and such a cross street. When they didn't get their party at once, of course, they blamed poor Central—just as today."

Miss Kennedy got $5 a week for her work when she first began.

"When I think of the comforts in the offices today," she says, "I realize that we girls in the 'dark ages' had virtually nothing. I went to work at eight in the morning and remained on the job until six at night. To get to work I had to take a horse car from my home in Jersey City, then a ferry across to Manhattan and then another street car, drawn by horses."

And when I got to my office I had to walk up six flights of stairs.

"My friends thought I was crazy to take the job. But after 45 years I'm not sorry."

RULING ASKED ON GAS STATUTE

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 20.—Claiming exemption from payment of the state tax of three cents per gallon on gasoline on the ground that fuel used in the operation of its buses is purchased outside the state and is not handled either by wholesale or retail dealers in Virginia, the Richmond Rapid Transit Corporation has asked Attorney General John E. Saunders for an early ruling on the question.

L. C. Williams, attorney for the corporation, announced today.

The attorney general is asked specifically to construe section three of the gasoline tax law, which provides that a tax shall be levied "on all motor vehicle fuel, herein defined, which is sold and delivered in this state and is not under the protection of the Interstate Commerce clause of the constitution of the United States," on the other hand, the state holds the company liable for the tax on the definition of the term "dealer" which, under section one of the act, is held to mean any person or firm who imports or caused to be imported into the state gasoline for distribution, sale or use.

BELGIAN BLIND VETERAN NO LONGER HAS TO BEG

BRUSSELS, Sept. 20.—The blind man wearing the ribbon of the Cross of the Yser and the Order of Leopold, who for some time this Summer stood on a busy corner asking passersby for alms, begs no more.

One day a tall, light haired man with a pronounced stoop of the shoulders and mild blue eyes that hid behind thick lenses, stopped to chat with the beggar.

"Where were you wounded, comrade?" he asked.

"On the Yser, sir. Perhaps you were there, that terrible spot near the ferryman's house. (La Maison du Passereux.)"

"Indeed I was," said the stranger sadly, "for four long years driven from my home and country I was on that front and I know every metre of it. But I have had better luck than you. I found my house intact, although somewhat soiled, upon my return, and some of my fortune was saved from the wreck. Take this go home and rest for a few weeks."

A few days later, Monsieur Fortomme, Minister of National Defense, received a letter calling attention to the ex-service man's distress. The communication led to prompt action. It was signed: "Albert, King of the Belgians."

HAD TO AVOID GREASY FOOD

Black-Draught Recommended by a Texas Lady, Who Describes Her Daughter's Interesting Case.

Paris, Tex.—"We have been using Black-Draught for seven years" says Mrs. M. E. Salter, of this town, who related the following description of how Black-Draught proved beneficial in the case of her daughter.

"Our oldest daughter would get very bilious was 'naturally' of a bilious temperament," said the doctor. The medicines we tried seemed too strong and would leave her in a weak condition, and her stomach so weak.

We began to look for a remedy that would correct this and not leave her so weak. Some one suggested Black-Draught. We tried it and the result was so good we never use anything else with her.

"We make a tea from Black-Draught and it certainly gives satisfaction. I myself use Black-Draught for headache and indigestion and colds and recommend it to others. Am sure it has benefited us."

Biliousness has been relieved, in many thousands of cases by the use of Theodor's Black-Draught. It is easy to take, and has none of the disagreeable after-effects of calomel and other mineral drugs. Black-Draught is purely vegetable. Try it. Sold everywhere 25c a package.

Kiwanis Spend Great Evening At Country Club

The inter-city Kiwanis club meeting which was held last night at the Country Club was voted today by members as the most successful and enjoyable Kiwanis meeting ever held in Danville. Between 150 and 175 members of the Danville, Reddsville, South Boston and Lynchburg clubs attended the rally which was featured by a scholarly address by Professor William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington University who discussed Kiwanis principles and the wide field of public service which the organization has entered. Professor Lewis address was the salient serious note of the evening the rest of the time being given over to that form of hilarity for which the Kiwanis have become famous. Lieutenant Governor Frank Talbott, presided at the meeting and Herbert Martin president of the Danville club, made the welcoming addresses. Special stunts were put on by the representatives of all the clubs present. Bryant Hayslip being fun-maker in chief for the Danville organization.

More than the usual number of attendance prizes were offered last night. The Danville members who drew them gracefully presented these to the presidents of the visiting clubs who were in attendance. Henry Roediger presented his prize to John Hardy of the South Boston club, Jimmy Hamlin gave his to Dick Barksdale of the Lynchburg Kiwanis. Bryant Hayslip presented his to Dr. Jett president of the Reddsville club, while J. T. Caullin donated his to the speaker of the evening. Songs and instrumental music were included in the programme which began soon after Kiwanian "Jimmy" Sheldone had pronounced the blessing.

Professor Mather wove the general theme of education into his discussion of Kiwanis ideals, this including reference to the organization's work in behalf of underprivileged children. He stressed the necessity during the present day of giving children an education in order that they may measure up to the large world problems which are already in evidence but many of which he said, could not be settled definitely during the present generation.

BASEBALL SQUABBLES; RICHMOND WANTS COIN

RICHMOND, Sept. 21.—Two suits—one against the owners of the Wilson club of the Virginia League, and the other against W. S. Moye, president of the circuit—were scheduled to be filed in Charlotte, N. C., yesterday by H. P. Dawson, owner of the Richmond club. The Colts' owner, accompanied by David Meade White, local attorney, left Thursday night for Charlotte to file the papers.

The Wilson club, declared pennant winner in the Virginia League by President Moye, is playing the Charlotte team, champions of the South Atlantic Association, in the latter city.

A court order to attach the receipts of the post-season series, until a judgment in the suit against the Wilson club has been rendered, will be sought by Dawson and his lawyer.

The suit against the Wilson club asks that the financial benefits accruing to the Carolina team from the series be awarded to Richmond, contending that the Colts are playing as champions of the league, while the Colts are really entitled to the pennant.

The suit against the league head is laid on personal grounds. It is charged that he failed to carry out the duties of his office by refusing to call a league meeting, when Richmond laid apparently strong claims to the 1922 pennant, and also countenanced the Wilson club's refusal to play a postponed game. The amount asked in the suit against Moye was not ascertained.

Mayor Hylan Out of Danger

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Mayor John F. Hylan of New York City, who has been in here for three weeks from pleurisy and double pneumonia, showed further improvement today. He was so much better that he was permitted to talk for several minutes with members of his family and his physicians. He assimilated his increased food allowance without distress and showed an increase in appetite and strength.

The physicians agreed today that Mayor Hylan is practically out of danger. They feared only that he might try to exert himself too soon.

Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, Health Commissioner of New York City, who will remain here until the Mayor is out of bed, impressed upon him today the necessity of remaining quiet. No bulletin was issued tonight. Dr. George F. Comstock and Dr. Monaghan examined the Mayor at 6 o'clock and found him in excellent shape, although his fever has gone up slightly, as is usual at nightfall. Dr. Comstock said:

"The Mayor is still very sick and will remain so for a week or two. All danger from the pneumonia appears to have been removed. At this moment there is nothing in sight to retard his recovery. The reservation must be made that in all such cases there is a possibility of complications."

Good Morning Judge!

McKinley Satterfield, colored, charged with felonious assault on Will Blackwell, was this morning acquitted of the charge after a hearing in the police court. Satterfield was charged with shooting Blackwell through the abdomen, following a disagreement which occurred at the scene of their work near the depot. Satterfield proved that he had been threatened by Blackwell and that he shot only after the latter had again threatened to kill him and when he started off. Blackwell charged Satterfield had stolen fifteen dollars from him, but this the latter denied.

The only other case on the police court docket this morning was a charge of reckless driving against W. M. Lee, as result of an accident which occurred on East Stokes street when he struck the little child of M. M. Foust with his automobile. The child was not badly hurt. It was said. The evidence showed that the accident was unavoidable.

Urges Riceless Weddings As Step To Relieve Japs

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Riceless weddings were urged today by Commissioner William Peart, of the Salvation Army as an important step in relieving starvation in devastated Japan. Commissioner Peart produced statistics showing that a million pounds of rice are wasted every year in the United States, when it is thrown at and over newly wedded couples, causing them much anxiety and discomfort and giving Pullman car porters a lot of extra work this rice. Instead of being wasted, should go to feed thousands of hungry Japanese.

PRAYER OF GIRL WINS FREEDOM FOR MOTHER

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Mamie Werner, 14, stood in the Coney Island courtroom today and saw her mother taken away.

Mamie only knew that a butcher said her mother had taken money that didn't belong to her, and that they were taking her mother away, and Mamie and her brother John, 4 years old, would have to stay alone for many nights.

As Magistrate Elliptin was leaving his desk Mamie cried:

"Oh, God! Bring me back my mom!"

The court reopened. Mrs. Catherine Werner, of Brooklyn, was brought back. Her $1,000 bail was reduced to $300 and her examination set for Friday.

Arthur McMahon had seen Mamie crying. He had never seen Mrs. Werner, but he put up the $300 and the mother went home with Mamie.

Fire Ins. Agents To Meet Saturday

The committee of fire insurance agents appointed yesterday following a meeting held in the Municipal Building to discuss a more equitable distribution of the city's fire insurance policies, will hold their first session on Saturday morning at which time recommendations will be drawn up which will be submitted to the finance committee. The committee appointed is composed of A. F. Patton, John Overberger, E. R. Meade, James T. Caullin and W. W. Waddill. The number of policies on city property is 150 which provide a coverage of $886,570. The total amount paid out in premiums by the city each year is approximately $2,000. Years ago the policies were distributed according to the amount of losses paid into the city, each agent being required to pay $10 for each company, he represented. The plan then was to give to the company paying the city the most money the largest number of policies. This has since been done away with. Testimony heard today was connected by the city auditor who is anxious to see all concerns treated alike and to spread out the policies as evenly as possible among the companies. The city auditor is also planning to have all of the city's fire insurance policies to lapse on the same day. At present they run out at different intervals which requires constant watchfulness to see that the city remains adequately covered. By having a fixed date for renewal a good deal of unnecessary waste of time will be eliminated. There has been some discussion in council circles of establishing a fire insurance reserve fund the city setting aside a certain amount each year in lieu of paying the premiums to fire insurance companies. This plan has been viewed with mixed opinion, some holding that until an adequate reserve were accumulated the fire hazard borne by the city would remain not properly covered for several years.

Way Is Opened for Damaging Evidence In the Ward Trial

Prosecutor Takes Defense by Surprise—Places Guns Surrendered by Defendant in Hands of Jury.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The state placed in the hands of Walter S. Ward's trial jury here today the two guns surrendered by the defendant, with testimony from Police Chief Frank Cody, of New Rochelle, that both weapons are exactly similar to those he presented to Ward some months before Clarence Peters was shot.

Special Deputy Attorney General Thomas O'Neill paved the way for the introduction of the guns by introducing the testimony of Ward's own counsel, Allan R. Campbell, whom the prosecutor placed on the witness stand.

O'Neill took the defense by surprise and forced an opening for the admission of most damaging evidence yet presented against the prisoner. So carefully prepared was the state's adroit move that Justice Robert F. Wagner overruled objection after objection raised by the Ward defenders, meanwhile the air of nomenclature that has marked the appearance of the state of Peters since the opening of the trial abruptly disappeared to give place to his visible indication of genuine concern.

As Campbell, Sheriff George J. Werner, Chief Cody and Lieut. Eugene C. Roberts of the state police met O'Neill's barrage of questions, Ward moved about nervously in his seat and with apparent anxiety held whispered consultations with State Senator Ellwood M. Radenold and Samuel Miller of his legal staff.

Holding the blue steel Smith and Wesson revolver of .32 calibre, which he had forced Campbell to admit reluctantly he had given to Sheriff Werner with the explanation that it had been used by Peters on the night that Ward killed him, O'Neill asked Chief Cody:

"I show you this exhibit and ask whether it looks exactly like the one you gave the defendant."

Ex-Judge Isaac N. Mills, chief of the Ward lawyers, jumped to his feet with an objection, which Justice Wagner overruled.

Cody took the weapon and examined it carefully, turning it over and over.

"As I remember, it looks exactly like it," he answered slowly.

Way Is Opened for Damaging Evidence In the Ward Trial

Ward leaned forward to whisper to Attorney Miller. A tense silence had fallen over the crowded courtroom. The deep peal of a church bell tolling for a funeral service came in through the open windows.

The black Colt automatic of .38 calibre, which Campbell had admitted was the life-taking bullet into the heart of Peters was in like manner identified by Cody.

In answer to a series of questions concerning Ward's marksmanship, Cody stated that he had seen the defendant shooting in competition with members of the New Rochelle police department and that Ward hit the target with every shot, some of which were bulls' eyes. This was two weeks to a month before Peters was slain.

The last time he saw Ward shoot Cody said that Ward used the very weapon with which he had admitted he killed Peters. With the guns, a box of cartridges which fit Ward's gun and were given to Werner by Campbell at the time he turned over the weapons to the authorities were put in evidence over objections by Ward's counsel.

Other witnesses examined today were Deputy Sheriff Raymond A. Hill, finger print expert, who was instrumental in identifying Peters; Conductor Harry Miller, of the Baltimore and Ohio, who testified he collected a railroad ticket on May 15, 1922, which had been given to Peters when he left Paris Island, S. C., Earl N. Hardy, uncle of Peters, who admitted the youth had been in trouble a number of times for jostling; Corporal Winfield S. Buzard and Sergeant Lynn S. May, both Marines, and Wm. I. Sutherland, railroad ticket agent.

Sees Big Decline In Liquor Making

The activity of liquor makers has been cut fifty per cent. since this time last year, according to W. T. Shelton, state prohibition inspector, who made the assertion this morning when giving details of a raid he made yesterday near Peytonsburg, with Deputy Sheriff T. P. Smith. The officers found two fermenters, fake stands and a quantity of beer but no still, about three hundred yards from the home of Jim Barksdale, colored, who was taken into custody. Barksdale denied his responsibility for the material but he was taken in charge, removed to Chatham and sent to the grand jury. Mr. Shelton attributes the decline in liquor making to the increase in the number of law officers.

Alabama Mayor Says Tanlac Restored His Health

Judge G. W. Thomason, Mayor of Tarrant City, Alabama, widely known and highly esteemed pioneer citizen, recently gave his unqualified endorsement to the Tanlac treatment.

"Chronic indigestion brought me to the verge of a general breakdown three years ago," said Judge Thomason, "and nothing seemed to afford much relief. I was eating scarcely enough to keep going on, and food stayed in my stomach like a rock, causing pain and extreme nervousness. Sleep was often impossible, and I gradually weakened so I could hardly attend to my office duties."

"The first bottle of Tanlac improved my appetite and digestion wonderfully. My nervousness disappeared and I rested better at night. Each successive bottle gave added impetus to my returning strength, and I felt ten years younger when I finished the sixth bottle a short time later. Tanlac gave me new zest in life that still remains with me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.—adv.

Pinchot May Be Pa.'s Candidate for Nomination

Delegation From That State Will Make Effort at Convention to Put Governor Over.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Governor Gifford Pinchot, the grizzled Rooseveltian tamer of game politicians who has made the Penrose political manager jump through hoops and eat from the hand since Penrose died—Pinchot, who has just settled the anthracite coal strike—probably will be Pennsylvania's candidate for the Republican nomination for President next year.

It is not likely that the governor will declare himself a candidate for the nomination. It is not likely that he will make a campaign for delegates to the Republican national convention or that he will allow his friends to make such a canvass. If he should become an avowed candidate before the meeting of the convention and to outside his own state to bid for support it would be because of a radical change in the political situation.

The prospect, as, however, that the Pennsylvania delegation will enter the convention prepared to go to the limit to put Pinchot over. The Pinchot partisans believed that if President Coolidge fails to achieve the nomination in the early balloting he will be eliminated and the contest then will develop into a pitched battle between the supporters of Senator Hiram Johnson (California) and Governor Pinchot, both of whom were grand marshals in the Progressive party belt of 1912.

The Governor, it appears, has refrained scrupulously from making any move to obtain the Pennsylvania delegation and has consistently discouraged discussion of himself as a presidential possibility. Special significance, therefore, attaches to the fact that the first suggestion of support for the nomination emanated from Senators Peppers and Reed who are identified more with the anti-Pinchot team with the Pinchot faction.

The senators issued a joint statement to the effect that they could not declare for the nomination of President Coolidge, because if Governor Pinchot were to be a candidate they would be in a dilemma necessitating careful consideration of their course.

In some quarters this was interpreted as a move to smoke out Pinchot on the Presidency. If so, it did not succeed, for the Governor disclaimed to comment. By other statements is regarded as an intimation on the part of the organization that Pinchot may have the delegation if he wants it.

It would not be surprising if the most active and earnest workers for the nomination of Pinchot should turn out to be the henchmen of the late Boss Penrose who have been on their good behavior since Pinchot got the whip hand but are greatly bored by the practice of virtue and are yearning for the flesh pots of old. If they could get rid of Pinchot right in the middle of his term as governor by the simple expedient of kicking him upstairs they would be exceedingly happy, in fact just as happy as Boss Platt when he kicked Theodore Roosevelt upstairs into the vice presidency to get him out of New York.

What has brought Pinchot into the limelight particularly at this time is his settlement of the coal strike. Whether the President or the Governor will profit the more politically from the settlement is a moot question among the politicians. The President has been credited in some quarters with a shrewd passing of the buck to Pinchot whereby Mr. Coolidge will receive praise for the general result of a strike avoided while the Governor will be blamed by anthracite consumers for the increase in price to cover the pay boost he sanctioned. The Pinchot boosters contend the governor is entitled to all the credit for halting a strike which the President evidently had abandoned hope of stopping.

The Pinchot administration has accomplished numerous reforms in state government and its most extraordinary aspect has been the repeated demonstrations of popular confidence in the honesty and devotion to the public welfare of the Governor himself. Greater power than ever was given a state executive was voted to Pinchot by a hostile legislature when at popular request he was granted blanket authority to organize the state government. He reduced tax eating agencies of government to 21, abolishing and consolidating offices with a stroke of the pen, established a budget system and reduced appropriations $30,000,000 for the first half of his term. The funds were voted in lump sums for executive disbursement.

Pinchot did all these things, his friends say, without even giving or promising an appointment to office, although legislators came to him and offered to sell votes for his bills for patronage. He spurned such bargaining and elected to fight. Some times he won, some times he lost, but when he won he had the satisfaction of accomplishing something he had been assured could not be done in "practical politics." Pinchot, coadjutor of Roosevelt, is carrying on the work of Roosevelt in the old Penrose stronghold. Over the desk of the Governor hangs a portrait of Roosevelt and the Governor will tell you that when he looks up at it he can hear the Colonel saying: "Fear God and take your own part."

Pinchot and his accomplished and brilliant wife both inherited millions and both have devoted their lives and their money to public service. The Governor was the founder of the conservation movement and is also the father of agricultural cooperation in this country. He is a member of the executive committee of the Farm Bureau Federation and has a strong following throughout the agricultural West.

Defense Counsel Forced On Stand In the Ward Case

(By The Associated Press.)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Deputy Attorney General James J. O'Neill late today threw into consternation attorneys for Walter S. Ward, millionaire baker's son on trial charged with the murder of Clarence Peters, of Haverhill, Mass., when he suddenly called to the witness stand Attorney Allen R. Campbell of the defense staff.

Mr. O'Neill and Mr. Campbell had clashed frequently during the day while the state built a foundation for its case. Although the early testimony was unseasonable, the 250 spectators who took every place in the small court room remained seated during the lunch recess to prevent any of the hundreds who crowded the corridors outside from replacing them.

The two attorneys had been particularly warm over the questioning of Lieutenant Eugene C. Roberts, of the state police, who produced the empty shell discharged from the gun Ward used in killing Peters. Mr. O'Neill objected to Mr. Campbell asking Lieutenant Roberts on cross examination questions he alleged were unrelated to the direct examination and Mr. Campbell insisted to the court that the state "exhaust the witness."

As the trooper left the stand Attorney Campbell remarked: "We will call you again, lieutenant." "I object to that remark," Mr. O'Neill fairly shouted.

Then in the midst of the renewed argument the deputy attorney general directed that Attorney Campbell himself take the witness stand. A wave of surprise swept the court room and the defense attorneys were visibly perplexed. Campbell suggested that instead he confer with the prosecution after court adjourned. The prosecutor refused.

Mr. Campbell slowly answered Mr. O'Neill's questions, saying he had been an attorney for 20 years and that he entered Ward case after the defendant had consulted his law partner.

Mr. Campbell was unable to produce a receipt for the two pistols and box of cartridges that he and the other defense attorneys turned over to the sheriff when they made the statement implicating Ward in the death of Peters. He identified a carbon copy.

Mr. O'Neill then strode to the stand around which were grouped the prosecuting attorneys. He lifted a long black automatic pistol from the table and handed the weapon to Mr. Campbell.

The defense attorney conceded the pistol bore an identical number to one mentioned in the receipt and said that if the sheriff would identify the gun he would also. He answered similarly about another gun and a box of cartridges presented in evidence by Mr. O'Neill.

Earlier in the day Attorney Campbell examined Earl N. Hardy, Peters' uncle who identified the slain man's body in the White Plains morgue several days after it had been found.

Peters was weak-willed, and he was easily led, declared Mr. Hardy. He added that he never had known the boy to gamble or drink or mention "Jack Rogers" or "Charlie Ross," the two men averred by the prosecution to have been his accomplices in the alleged blackmail plot. Peters he said, "was inclined to argue but he was not quarrelsome."

Chief of Police Frank Cody, of New Rochelle, was the last witness of the day. The court sustained objections of the defense to the prosecution asking Cody if Ward had ever given him information that blackmailers had threatened either him or his family. Mr. Cody testified that when Ward was police commissioner of New Rochelle—he held that office at the time of Peters' death—he gave him two pistols, and he identified the two previously identified by Mr. Campbell as the gifts. They were 1921 Christmas gifts he said. He said that Ward was "a good shot" and then testified he gave the defendant a permit to carry a pistol.

SEMI-FINALS OF WOMEN'S TOURNEY

(By The Associated Press.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., Miss Alexa Sterling, of New York, Mrs. Hope Gibson, of Hamilton, Ontario, and Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of Huntercombe, England, present Canadian title-holder, entered the semi-finals of the Canadian women's open golf championship today and will play tomorrow in the order named.

In the third round today Miss Collett defeated Mrs. D. Hurd, of Hamilton, Ontario, five up and four to play; Miss Sterling defeated Mrs. Harold Hutchins, of Winnipeg, three up and two to play; Mrs. Gibson defeated Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Mississauga, one up and Mrs. Gavin defeated Miss H. Meahan, of Cedarbrook, Pa., by four and three.

SPANISH FLEET COMMENCES TO BOMBARD MOORS

(By The Chicago Tribune Service.)

MADRID, Sept. 20.—The Spanish fleet today commenced to bombard the Moors, who have taken up a position on the hills above Alhucemas Bay. The fleet has been ordered to clear a way for the debarkation of a large expeditionary force which will fight its way southward across rocky Rif at the same time that 100,000 men off the Melilla front advance westward.

Abdel Krim, the enemy leader, has 75,000 fanatical Moorish tribesmen under his command. Everyone of his sharpshooters is an expert guerrilla fighter and provides his own rations of prickly pears.

General Alzupur, the new commander in chief in Morocco, is going to Tetuan, capital of the Spanish zone, tomorrow, to organize an offensive on the western flank. This offensive is urgent because the Tangiers conference opens in London in ten days. At that conference Spain must be able to prove its ability to govern the zone if it is to succeed in its demand that it be permitted to govern the Tangier zone. Morocco is the last of Spain's important overseas territory.

Six cruisers and a dozen destroyers will soak all of the rocky hillside overlooking Alhucemas Bay with gas until the supreme Spanish offensive is unleashed. Air bombers will drop "eggs" upon several three inch field guns with which the Moors have been sweeping the bay from the hill top. It will be the supreme effort of Spain's 400 year effort to pacify Morocco.

The plan of General Weyler, chief of staff, was revised by the directorate yesterday and the first blow was then struck at Alhucemas Bay, near which are located the famous silver mercury iron mines.

Willie O. Andrews was operated on for appendicitis Thursday night at the General Hospital.

Mrs. Bascom Jordan and Mrs. E. P. Ferrell, left this morning by auto for Durham, N. C., where they will visit Mrs. W. P. Lyon.

THE BRITISH AND FRENCH PREMIERS HOLD MEETING

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Approachments between the British and French governments for the first time since their original split on January 11, when Bonar Law refused to participate in the Ruhr occupation, began today with a meeting between Prime Minister Baldwin and Premier Poincare.

During the conversation which followed luncheon at the British embassy, Baldwin admitted that the French policy towards Germany gives every appearance of being eventually crowned with success. Thereby he tacitly admitted that the British were at fault in opposing seizure of the Ruhr in order to force payment of reparations.

As a result of the success of today's preliminary negotiations Baldwin decided to remain in Paris until tomorrow, when another meeting with

MEXICO SHIPMENTS

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—Manufacturers and distributors in this section have been shipping products to Mexico at the rate of $800,000 a month since recognition of the O'Higgins government. These products range from delicate electrical instruments to street cars. A large proportion of these products are such as were formerly furnished the southern republic by Germany.

The southeastern Missouri cotton crop is beginning to come to the gin and pickings will become general shortly. Damage from boll weevil and the army worm has not been excessive in Missouri but is reported to be on the increase in Arkansas.

CALLED IN ERROR

Your telephone rings and on answering, the operator asks "Number, please?" Your bell rang, so you feel someone wishes to reach you and you cannot understand why the operator answers in the same way as if you were making a call.

In this case, the operator who answered you was not the one who rang your bell. It may have been rung by any one of the operators in your exchange. The operator who answered you did not know that your telephone had been rung, but was responding to the signal that appeared when you lifted your receiver.

Usually such a "call in error" occurs because the party calling abandons the call; i.e., hangs up the receiver before the called subscriber has had an opportunity to answer.

"Calls in error" cause great annoyance. Telephone users can assist in preventing them by waiting until the person being called has ample time to answer the telephone. When the called party answers, if you do not want to talk or if you have asked for a wrong number, explain it to the person answering.

HEALTH EXPERTS STUDY METHODS

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Health experts representing a score of foreign governments sent under the third international exchange of such officers arranged by the health secretary of the league of nations, concluded their study here today of American methods in dealing with hygiene and sanitation.

Their studies here, covering a period of two weeks, have included every phase of the work under direction of Surgeon General Cummings, of the Public Health Service, and today they were guests at luncheon tendered by Assistant Secretary Wadsworth of the Treasury in charge of the health unit. Starting tomorrow the physicians will begin a tour of three months during which they will investigate state methods of combating disease.

Divided into three groups, the medical men will go into Virginia, North Carolina, and Alabama. One group will visit Richmond, another Raleigh and the third Montgomery. After the close of their study in the southern states the three groups will visit Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts, and reassemble in New York City for an exchange of views prior to departing for their homes.

NEW RAILWAY LAID

HOUSTON, Sept. 20.—A new railroad and classification yard to cost $121,000 will be built at once as an extension to the terminal facilities of this port. Contracts have just been let for 1,700 feet of new wharves.

Jobs are scarce for the Physically Run-Down

THE DOOR of opportunity flings wide its portals only to the man who is up and doing—who is filled with pep and punch—with rich, red blood tingling through his veins. Mountain size obstacles dwindle to ant hills and ambitions become accomplishments to these sort of men.

Where is the employer who seeks the man who is physically run-down?—The man without stamina to withstand the knocks and gaffs of the hurrying, scurrying world of business?—S. S. S. is the long established and time honored creator of red blood cells. You cannot expect to get very far up the ladder unless you are equipped with a body that is strong and vigorous. S. S. S. will start you on your way. Don't allow the "Door of Opportunity" to be closed to you because you lack the stamina to withstand the gaff—because your nerve power is lacking. Build up your system!

S. S. S. made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks makes you fit! Get back that old time punch! When opportunity knocks be ready to answer the call!

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. It is more economical to buy a large size bottle.

HOW TO STOP SORE, BLEEDING, RECEDING GUMS

Dentists say that a great majority of people either have pyorrhea (Riggs Disease) or pyorrhea tendencies. The beginning is sore, receding or bleeding gums, sensitive or loose teeth, pus pockets and bad odors. Pyorrhea not only affects the gums and teeth, but also your general health, as the pus which is very poisonous, is absorbed into the system causing serious stomach troubles, the results of which are sometimes fatal.

You can now treat pyorrhea at home and not need with formalin known as Cresosene the new discovery that, through penetration, carries a powerful but harmless germicidal, of which Cresosene is the most powerful, strong, tissue-dissolving agent known and used by dentists for years. It is the base, right to the root of the teeth, killing the pyorrhea germs, making the gums healthy, absorbing up and preserving the teeth, healing pus pockets, relieving pain and destroying odors caused by decay and abscessed teeth.

Cresosene is pleasant to use and should be used by every one who wants a clean, healthy, and firm mouth and healthy and strong teeth. It is sold at all drug stores and is sold at $1.00 at your drug store and at $1.00 at the factory. Cresosene Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Billionaire Cop?—Claims The Woolworth And Other Buildings

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
(Special to The Bee.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Warren Edwards, Cincinnati policeman, is still bent on becoming the world's richest landlord. According to his latest calculation, he hopes to be in possession of a large slice of lower Manhattan by 1948.

This slice comprises 100 acres. Experts grow dizzy when they try to figure its value. After they reach $1,000,000,000 they run out of zeros, for a few of the buildings in this area are:

Woolworth	55
Singer	41
City Investing	33
Whitehall	32
Adams Express	32
American Express	32
A T & T	23
Hudson Terminal	22

The assessed valuation of these few buildings is more than $30,000,000 and that is just a percentage of their actual value!

"It's going to be a hard fight," says Edwards, "to get back this property, but it's going to be a fight to a finish with a policeman against the wealthy New Yorkers."

Patriotism Edwards and a group of optimistic relatives argue like this: "Back in the old days when George III was king of England, and Broadway wasn't even a pasture, one Robert Edwards acquired himself with glory in the Indian Wars. As a reward, the king gave him a grant of 160 acres. Young Edwards went to work, cleared away the trees, and began a real estate boom in Manhattan. What once was the farm of Robert Edwards became the financial district of New York. The 160 acres extend from the battery to Park Row, and from Broadway to the Hudson river."

Policeman Edwards says he is a direct descendant of the old Indian fighter. One day he got to thinking about his worthy ancestor, and his property. He had the records searched, and then went to see a lawyer.

Attorney Gelsmar, of Cincinnati, is now handling the case for Edwards and the other relatives. His clients claim that their lucky predecessor got this land grant in 1750, leased it for a period of 99 years, at the expiration of which time the lease was renewed for another 99-year period.

And Edwards and his kin are now trying to prove this second lease expires in 1948 and that they should have the property then.

But while he's waiting, Edwards still sticks to his job as cop.

"One can never tell how such things turn out," he says. "It's best to play safe."

VETS BUREAU AND DOPE GANG ARE AT WAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—War is being waged between officials of the U. S. Veterans Bureau and members of "dope gangs" who are living off the war earned compensation received by disabled ex-service men.

It has been instructed all employees of the United States Veterans Bureau to give every assistance to the narcotic forces of the government in hunting out and running down these arch criminals who thrive on the blood and strength of their fellow men."

and (General) Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans Bureau today in disclosing the recent results of the Bureau's war on dope peddlers and dealers.

"Since the opening of the drive in August thirty five peddlers, including four dealers and over $12,000 worth of morphine and cocaine and heroine have found their way into the net of the government forces in the San Francisco district.

The medical personnel of the United States Veterans Bureau are working in veterans hospitals throughout the country, to restore health to the shattered bodies and minds of America's disabled former service men have long realized that among their most deadly foes were those who sold pain deadening but body wrecking narcotics to the patients. There is probably no hospital in the country but has had its paralytic gang of dope

The present serious crisis in Europe, with Greece, Italy, Jugoslavia, Bulgaria and Spain adding to the existing menaces of harmony between Britain and France only threatened to fan smouldering quarrels into a blaze of hostilities, apparently produced serious reactions upon both Poincare and Baldwin.

My Hair Today

Is finer than 40 Years ago
By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is the envy of thousands who see it, on the stage and elsewhere. It is heavy, silky, lustrous, with not a touch of gray. I have never had falling hair or dandruff.

My hair is the envy of thousands who see it, on the stage and elsewhere. It is heavy, silky, lustrous, with not a touch of gray. I have never had falling hair or dandruff.

I found in Plance many years ago the greatest hair help in existence. My mother used it, and she died at the age of 57, with hair like mine today. Many of my friends have used it, and they all have beautiful hair. Now by countless requests I am placing this formula within every woman's reach.

What Experts Said
These French experts told me to cultivate my scalp. To stimulate and fertilize it daily. To keep it free from hardened oil and dandruff, which stifles the hair roots. Hair cannot thrive or keep its color unless this is done.

They gave me a formula which had been perfected by long research and experiment. And I never found anyone who, in other ways, has obtained such fine results.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price 50c and $1 with eye dropper. Also my Youth Cream, based on lemon and strawberry. Also my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my White Youth Clay. My Beauty Book comes with each.

If your hair needs help, as all hair does, let my Hair Youth bring it to you.

RICHMOND WILL OFFER A SITE FOR MEMORIAL

RICHMOND, Sept. 20.—The city of Richmond will offer a site for a memorial to the fallen soldiers of the Civil War. The site is located on the banks of the James River, near the old fort. The memorial will be a large stone structure, with a statue of a soldier on top. The city will offer the site to any group that wants to build the memorial. The group must have the approval of the city council. The memorial will be a great reminder of the sacrifices made by the soldiers of the Civil War.

WATCHING JUSTICE DONE

The most interested spectators of the trial of Walter Ward for the killing of Clarence Peters are Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Peters, the parents of the dead boy. The trial, 16 months after the killing, was the result of the appeal made by Mrs. Peters to Governor Smith for action in the long dormant case.

HISTORIC NEW MARKET FIGHT IS REENACTED BY CADETS AND MARINES

(By The Associated Press)

NEW MARKET, Va., Sept. 20.—Following as closely as possible the movement of the opposing armies in the original battle of New Market, as that historic encounter is recorded in the tragic story of the Civil War, the marine corps east coast expeditionary force and cadets of the Virginia Military Institute today reenacted the spectacle of fifty-nine years ago, which checked the advance of Grant's army toward the Confederate capital at Richmond.

Bent with the years that have witnessed the reunion of a divided nation and a wedding of states in ties of an indissoluble national spirit, the gray-haired veterans who followed Breckenridge and Sigel, looked on today while the lilted fighting men of another age fought over the same ground where they once had struggled against musket, cannon and saber.

Vivid memory recalled to these living remnants of the Blue and the Gray the half-forgotten incidents of that memorable day when they defied the destruction machines of war and walked hand in hand with death for a principle.

Thousands of persons witnessed the reproduction of the famous engagement today. Included in the throng were cabinet members, diplomatic and maturity representatives of several foreign countries, high officials of the army navy and marine corps, contractors of Congress and men prominent in the public life of the nation. Untold hundreds of tourists found their way to the Shenandoah valley for a glimpse of the sham battle.

A stream of automobiles poured into the battle area throughout the night and up to noon today. Practically every state east of the Mississippi river was represented and there were a few persons from the Pacific coast. A detachment of marines were pressed into service as traffic officers and a small detachment of the army navy and marine corps.

Promptly at one o'clock a gun on Bushong's Hill barked the signal of battle. The "Federal force," represented by the marine corps of the expeditionary force, advanced from a point west of the Pennsylvania monument where the line had been drawn up for the "attack." Sharpshooters amused themselves with random shots as the two battle lines were forming.

Quickly the "Federal" advanced to the attack. The rattle of musket fire and the boom of cannon resounded through the valley. The battle was on. Above the din was heard the terrible "rebel yell" as the "Confederates," represented by the V. M. I. cadets and a small detachment of the marine force, launched their defense of the town.

Over the historic battle field where men fought and died in 1864, battle raged again. Shot, shell and saber claimed their toll and men in blue and men in gray dropped to the ground. The color bearer fell with a mortal wound. The line wavered for a moment, but a "wounded" hero in gray hoisted the fallen banner again.

With courage regained, the defenders rushed against the foe with renewed vigor. The sixty second regiment of the Confederate Army attacked the center of the Federal line. The cadets hastily filled up an opening in their line and saved the left flank of the force which was threatened.

The Federal battlers centered their fire on the sixty second and later retreated before the death-dealing volley. But reinforcements arrived, the Fifty First regiment joining the defense of New Market. The attack was renewed more savagely than ever. The Federal line wavered before the great onslaught and finally broke. Demoralized, the forces retreated in disorder down the valley. One battery, however, kept up the fire. The marines were engaged in a hand to hand encounter with cadets and finally were clubbed from their guns.

Put to rout in their attempt to gain another point in the advance on Richmond, Sigel's men fled the scene of their defeat, crossed the river, burned the bridge to stop the pursuit of the victorious Confederates, and the battle ended.

One feature of the battle today clearly distinguished it from the memorable conflict which it mimicked. While guns rumbled and rifles cracked, airplanes soared overhead in a mass of smoke, hovering closely in order that official observers might witness every detail of the maneuvers. The radio likewise gave today's battle a modern touch. Orders were flashed to and fro by the commanding officers of the opposing forces and the marine force maintained communication with the base at Quantico, where movements of the two armies were reported in detail.

After the battle the marines and cadets returned to Fort Detrick where they camped overnight. Tomorrow they will go to Lexington for the annual football game between the Marines and V. M. I. which is scheduled for Saturday. The "east coast expeditionary force" will break camp at New Market Monday when the marines will begin their return march to Quantico.

An interesting feature of the reproduction today was the presence of a number of Union and Confederate veterans who had taken part in the original battle. All of the original members of the Virginia Military Institute cadets who took part in the battle who are still living were invited to be present and of the number, 14 witnessed the spectacle. Many of these veteran soldiers came from points at a distance, prominent among them being Colonel George E. Raum, who came from San Francisco to be present at the occasion. Another interested spectator was Colonel Walter Kerr, who is accredited with firing the first shot in the original battle. Colonel Kerr had the pleasure today of firing the first shot in the reproduction when he pulled the lanyard of one of the 75-millimeter field guns with which the marine corps is equipped. Another distinguished guest was Col. Daniel H. A. Dupont of Wilmington, Delaware, former senator from that state, who as a captain of federal artillery, commanded Dupont's battery, which checked the Confederate attempt to pursue the union forces after the beginning of their retreat. Colonel Dupont today commanded the marine battery of 75's which took the part in the reproduction originally taken by the battery under his command. Another guest was Colonel James J. Breckenridge of the marine corps. Colonel Breckenridge is the grandson of the famous Confederate general who commanded the Confederate forces at the original battle of New Market and was the center of a knot of Union and Confederate veterans anxious to shake the hand of the grandson of their wartime commander. Governor Z. Lee Franklin and party of 30 from the capital of Virginia were among those present, heading an automobile caravan of several hundred cars from Richmond. Major General John A. Lejeune, commander-in-chief of the marine corps and Mrs. Lejeune, were hosts to a numerous party of distinguished guests, as were Brigadier General Smedley B. Butler, commanding general of the Quantico forces, and Mrs. Butler. An arrival who created interest was Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the United States army aviation service who arrived by airplane with an escort of three marine corps airplanes. Other guests who attracted special attention were Colonel John McEl Kerr of the Grand army of the Republic and a party of Union veterans and General W. B. Freeman of the Virginia Division, Confederate Veterans, with a party of men who were the Gray.

"(PAGEANT OF PROGRESS)"
(By The Associated Press)
HIGH POINT, N. C., Sept. 20.—The governors of four states, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee, have been asked to attend a "pageant of progress" to be held here on October 25 to mark an epoch in modern advancement, especially in road building. Governor McLeod, of South Carolina, and Governor Morrison and other prominent officials of North Carolina have accepted the invitation to attend the celebration, which is expected to be the biggest in the history of this section.

Tell of Progress On Roads of N. C.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 20.—Writing in this month's issue of the North Carolina Highway bulletin, official publication of the State Highway Commissioner, A. L. Cornell, Jr., and G. B. Cooper, resident engineers employed by the commission, in an article appearing under the heading, "Conquering a Sea of Sand," tells of the progress of the construction of state highway route No. 30, which runs from Wilmington in a northeasterly direction toward Virginia's southern border line.

"Beginning at Wilmington and running in a northeasterly direction through the towns of Jacksonville, New Bern, Washington, Williamsport and Gatesville to the Virginia line," reads the article, that portion of the state highway system known as Route No. 30 presents many interesting features of highway construction, of which the first 50 miles, known as the Wilmington and Jacksonville highway, will be dealt with in this article.

"Pender and Onslow counties traversed by this highway are situated in the extreme southeastern part of the state bordering on the Atlantic Ocean and by reason of this location are very sandy and poorly drained. This territory is sparsely settled owing to the difficulties of transportation which the construction of this road will relieve in a large part. This section of the state was settled at an early date by people from the New Bern section on the north and from the Cape Fear plantations on the south, who were probably attracted by the wondrous resources of the territory in the way of fish, oysters and game and also the great forests of virgin timber which at that date covered the whole coastal plain.

"The road practically runs parallel to the coast line at a distance of three to five miles or just far enough back to avoid the heads of numerous creeks and bays that jut out from the sounds along the coast. These bays and creeks as filled with fish and oysters, and in the winter are the feeding grounds of thousands of wild duck and geese. These together with numerous deer that roam the backwoods make this section a veritable 'Sportsman's Paradise,' which the completion of this road will open up to the hunters and fishermen of this and other states. In this connection it would be a good idea for state and county authorities to take steps to see that this game is not slaughtered as ruthlessly as the timber resources have been. The way this timber has been cut is a blot on our whole state. For miles after mile the road runs through cut-over land that judging from the stumps was a wonderful growth of long leaf pine and had it been properly cut on a sane and conservative basis would have still been a great source of wealth to the state. It is not too late yet to adopt a reforestation plan and with the almost subtropical climate which the proximity to the gulf stream affords it would be only a few years before the timber would be again a source of wealth to these counties. This section now lies dormant waiting for the stimulus which a modern highway will undoubtedly give toward development.

When the present highway commission took over the so-called Wilmington and Jacksonville highway in the Spring of 1921, it probably presented one of the longest continuous stretches of unimproved road in the system. For 12 miles out of Wilmington to Scott's Hill, the road was built of surface treated macadam. From Scott's Hill to Jacksonville there was no semblance of a road, the highway being merely a sandy trail, impassable a major portion of the time.

"Construction was started in November, 1921, the first project being 15.56 miles in length and known as No. 375. The contract covered grading, structuring and artificial sand-clay surfacing. Owing to the scarcity of clay, however, this surfacing was abandoned on February 15, 1922. The only clay surfacing would have proven far too costly for the result obtained for clay was of an inferior quality and had to be hauled excessive distances.

"Contracts were let in rapid succession for the grading and structures on the balance of the road to Jacksonville. This was let in two projects, No. 361-A and 364-B, successively.

"Owing to the extremely sandy soil the graded road would have proved but little better than the original trail. In the light of this investigation were started immediately to select a type of surfacing that could be strictly and cheaply built. A type of pavement known as sand asphalt was suggested. Tests were made of several sand deposits adjacent to the highway. The result of these tests were encouraging and in the early Spring of 1922 a location was adopted and a portable asphalt plant was ordered. A project 10 miles long, beginning at Scott's Hill was to be constructed and as this project was to be considered an experiment, no bids were invited, an organization being perfected by the highway commission.

The plant arrived the latter part of March and the first asphalt was laid in May. The work proved satisfactory from the beginning, and it was decided to continue this type of construction to Jacksonville and in order to expedite the work another plant was ordered about the same time. Both plants are now turning out asphalt and it is hoped that the road will be completed by the fall of 1924. Owing to the light traffic expected from a country so thinly populated, a pavement 10 feet wide is being constructed. Should future traffic justify a pavement of greater width the present one can be easily widened. This type of pavement has now passed the experimental stage. Its advantages lie in its cheapness and the utilization of local sand. The cost is considerably lower than the average contract price for asphalt surfacing, the price being $1.60 per square yard for the finished pavement.

"The pavement is merely what its name implies, being a mixture of sand and asphalt, mixed so as to obtain a maximum density. The same standards for engineering and in speed work are exacted in this work as in our other state work. A cost record is being rigidly kept, which, it is hoped, will prove of inestimable value to future work of this class.

REICHSTAG WILL

CONVENE FOR

NEW SESSION

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(By The Chicago Tribune Service.)
BERLIN, Sept. 20.—The Reichstag will convene for a new session, probably tomorrow. The Tribune correspondent is reliably informed that Chancellor Stresemann will immediately present a most important declaration which he has been preparing.

It is expected that a considerable enlargement of Germany's last offer of 30,000,000,000 gold marks to France will be announced.

It is further expected that unless great political changes occur, Chancellor Stresemann will formally announce withdrawal of the passive resistance policy in the Ruhr. Papal Nuncio Pacelli, who was the Vatican's peace envoy to Berlin during the war, arrived here today after consultation with the Pope and called upon Chancellor Stresemann.

The Pope, it is stated, appealed to the chancellor to continue his peace efforts to the utmost.

The Pope has heard that the Catholic population of the Ruhr and the Rhineland is suffering greatly, but he is more worried over the disorders which will come unless the French and Germans conclude speedy peace. Fearing guerrilla warfare, violence, and chaos in these Catholic zones, the Pope in the message given to the German government by the Nuncio, encouraged every move, no matter how much rebuffed, toward an early solution of the problem.

An American embassy official informs the Tribune no warning has been received from the Monarchist wing for the embassy families to leave Berlin on account of an impending outbreak as alleged in the Communist press. On the other hand, numerous reports are heard that the Communists are preparing for trouble during demonstrations on Sunday.

Jobless workmen under the Communist leadership of Grossgerau in Berlin, failing to receive unemployment doles, occupied the company building and drove out the officials. Failing to find any money, they asked the Opel Automobile Works to print some, which was refused. The jobless are planning to occupy the works and to print their own money.

A general strike has been declared in Freiburg and in Breisgau, Baden.

NEW YORK CAN

LOSE ALL GAMES

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The New York Yankees today clinched the 1923 American league championship, their third successive pennant victory, by defeating St. Louis at the stadium, 4 to 2. The Yankees, who have made a runaway of this season's race, now can lose all their remaining thirteen games and still finish at the top, even if Cleveland, in second place, wins all of its remaining 19 games.

Should the Yankees lose and Cleveland win all of their remaining games the final standing would be: New York, won 93; lost 51; percentage .404. Cleveland, won 92; lost 62; percentage .397.

By clinching the pennant today, two and a half weeks before the scheduled end of the season, the Yankees have scored one of the most decisive victories in the history of the league. They now hold a margin of 17 games over the second place Yankees.

The Yankees have set the pace practically from the start and have not been seriously threatened since mid-season. Challenged first by Connie Mack's Athletics, who spurred a sensational run in the spring, and later by Cleveland's railers, the Yankees stood off these threats and maintained a championship stride while their rivals fell by the wayside.

IT'S EASY—WHEN YOU KNOW HOW

Taking the hurdles isn't so bad—when you take 'em," says Miss Betty Berry shown here on Silver Crest at the Greenwich, Conn. horse show. The thrill of the steeplechase, however, comes in the fact that not all the horses get over.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT, COTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I knew it, I knew it, little Marquise I knew something was going to happen. But somehow I thought the terror which overshadowed me concerned Jack. It never entered my mind that my baby was threatened.

Yesterday, little Marquise, a letter came addressed to Junior and it contained only a five hundred dollar bill. There was not a scratch of the pen by which I could by any possibility know the sender.

I reached down for the envelope which had dropped from my nerveless fingers and found the postoffice stamp was so terribly blurred that I had no way of finding out even the town from which it had come. Yet I knew in my own heart that no one but my baby's own mother could have sent him this money.

When Jack came home and I told him the story, I thought he was going to faint. He looked the bill all over carefully. He even went and got the magnifying glass to see if he could not discern the letters on the postoffice stamp, but there was nothing.

We were in the nursery when he heard this for I had asked him to come near Junior's cradle while I told him the wonderful news. Looking down upon the unconscious baby head Jack said, "Well, my boy, you are a rich little chap. If you were not born with the proverbial silver spoon in your mouth you are certainly having it handed to you now."

"But, Jack," I said, "no one but his mother could have sent it." "Oh, I don't know, perhaps it was his father," answered Jack.

"No, for I am sure only a woman could have sent that money in just that way."

"Something has happened, Jack, by which that poor mother is able to care for her son. Is it right for us to keep him?"

"Well, I don't know how we can do anything else. We don't know where the 'poor mother' is that you are talking about. My advice is to sit tight. Legally he belongs to us. Whoever it is who has sent this money will have to come and take him not only from us but from the court and meantime this money will help me out on that deal I spoke of."

I stepped back in horror and looked into John's face to see if he really meant what he was saying.

"But it isn't yours, Jack. It isn't yours."

"Of course it is mine. The child is a minor and I am his legal father am I not?"

"Whatever you may be in the law that money does not belong to you and it must and shall be put in the bank for Junior."

"Don't worry, Leslie. I'll put it in three or four days and add another five hundred to it."

"You will give it to me now and I will bank it tomorrow?"

"Don't be a fool, Leslie," and Jack went out and slammed the door.

COURT TAKES GLORIA SWANSON'S SECOND HUSBY

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 20.—Gloria Swanson, one of the brightest stars in filmdom, lost her second husband, Herbert K. Somborn, today in Judge Bruke's court. Somborn was given a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

Mr. wife said her career above everything else in the world. He told the court. "She left me as she left her first husband Wallace Beery, after less than two years of married life. We were married in May, 1919, and separated in May, 1921. Shortly before the separation I was taken to the Westlake Hospital for a minor operation. It was while I was convalescing that Gloria told me of her intention.

"I must have my career," she said. "Nothing can interfere."

The suit was not contested, the defendant being present in New York with her three-year-old daughter. The court decided that a trust fund should be established for the child, the interest on which would be ample to supply her wants until she reached maturity.

VIRGINIA CENTURY BONDS ARE SOLD BY BOARD

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 20.—The State Board of Education has sold the block of Virginia century three per cent bonds which were acquired between 1900 and 1909 and has remitted the proceeds in Florida county and municipal bonds bearing five and six per cent interest. The Virginia bonds were bought at an average of 91 3/4 or a total cost of $190,916—a price that would yield about 4 per cent on the actual investment and were sold for $200,000. The Florida bonds were purchased at a price that will yield approximately 5 1/2 per cent annually on the new investment, it was announced. The Virginia century bonds are designed because they run for 100 years. They were issued in 1911 to mature in 1911.

THRIFT SEEN AS AID TO BUSINESS BY BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Sept. 21.—Helping business by saving money instead of spending it may sound strange but that is what Roger W. Babson, the statistician, proposes today. In a statement on the investment value to savings accounts, "Why it is that people differentiate between bank accounts and investments is more than I can comprehend," says Mr. Babson. "Apparently men and women feel that the money which they have in the bank is not 'invested.' They seem to think of it as tied up in bags in the vault of the bank. The fact is that just as soon as you deposit a dollar in the bank, that dollar is loaned by the bank to some one to build a home, or to buy merchandise, or is used for the purchase of bonds. When these bonds are bought, the money is still used by the company issuing the bonds—perhaps for the developing of a water power or the buying of railroad equipment or some other equally useful purpose. Therefore, money deposited in a bank is invested just as truly as any other money. The main difference is that it is invested by some one with experience and training instead of by one who may know little of financial matters.

"Bank accounts have all the advantages of the most attractive investments. Among these may be mentioned the following three: (1) Bank accounts are safe. Statistics would probably show that smaller losses come from bank accounts than from any other field of investment. (2) Bank accounts are very liquid—that is to say, we can quickly get our money at any time. Other forms of investment may be 'permanent' investments. Many of them are so permanent that they cannot be liquidated when desired. (3) Bank accounts offer a good opportunity for speculative profit. This may seem a strange statement, but let us examine it.

"The real opportunities to make money are through chances that come to take partnerships, to make special purchases or to do other things, which, if undertaken, often bring big gains. One never can tell when these opportunities will come but they do come to each of us two or three times in the course of our lives. They almost always require a certain amount of capital. Perhaps the best position offered for making money for less than a living wage for a while. Perhaps it means taking a year or more for travel or study. The man with a bank account can finance the venture but the man without a bank account cannot. Therefore, I say that a bank account offers an opportunity for speculative profit because it puts one in a position to make a big profit when the opportunity comes.

"I especially emphasize the importance of bank accounts at the present time because many people have not increased their bank accounts materially since the low prices of ten years ago. For a great many years prices ran along a certain level and people got into the habit of carrying about so much in their savings account and a certain amount in their checking account. All business men, from the large manufacturers to the humblest retailers, felt that a bank account of a certain size was about what he should carry and he has held the same idea up to the present time. Yet, during the past ten years, prices have increased from fifty to a hundred or more per cent, according to the commodity considered. Taking into consideration all factors entering into the cost of living, the dollar of ten years ago is worth only about sixty cents today. As prices increase we should increase our bank accounts to correspond. We take out increased insurance today on a building which was built ten years ago even though it was then insured for all it cost. The fact is that the cost to the building has gone up and if we had a fire we would have to rebuild at much higher prices. Therefore, we are not on the basis of the cost of ten years ago but on the basis of replacement as of today. It seems to me that we should follow the same principle regarding our bank accounts.

"One great trouble with business today is the amount of money being wasted on things of only temporary value and the small proportionate amount which is being 'banked' for things of more permanent value. This is one reason why the Babson chart has again radically declined, standing today at 10 per cent, below normal compared with 9 per cent a few years ago. Just as things got better around the first of the year, people again got careless. They let off the steam. Invaluable bank balances would help start business up toward normal again.

ALBERT RITCHIE RENOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR

MALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 20.—Governor Albert C. Ritchie was renominated to succeed himself by the Democratic State Convention here today and a platform containing a plank protesting against the enforcement of the 18th amendment through the Volstead rather than through legislation enacted by the various states were adopted. But, so long, however, as there are federal laws enforcing the 18th amendment, the plank advocates its modification so as to permit light wines and beer in communities where there is no local legislation to the contrary.

1923 Piedmont Pennant Finds Home In Danville

Danville Cops Every Contest of Series

Danville won its fourth successive game of its series with Greensboro yesterday in the presence of a delighted and enthusiastic crowd of more than 2,500 people.

The score, 11 to 4, indicates just how decisive the final triumph was. The attendance figures herewith given are based on actual returns of the paid attendance, whereas usually they have been merely approximated. It was a crowd well calculated to stimulate the Danville players to their best endeavors and they responded handsomely to every demand upon them and every opportunity. The big grandstand representatives of every class and condition of the local population and all were united into a congenial comradeship by their interest and sympathies and naturally were in the most amiable frame of mind.

As inning after inning assured the decisive triumph of a Manager Murphy's brilliant 1923 Tobaccoists, the great crowd's enthusiasm developed more and more until the concluding inning sent the great throng home to supper, with a stimulated pride in this city's athletic players and in the popular appreciation of good, clean, wholesome outdoor sport. Even the most enthusiastic golf players turned their backs on the links, discarded their tweeds, and turned out to witness a ball game which realized their hopes in being a decisive one, not only of the series for the pennant, but in the complete triumph of four successive victories in as many starts. The ladies, in many instances, abandoned the bridge table and the pink tea and anything else that competed with the climax of the pennant baseball series and were there to add their hand-clapping and their shrill cries of approval and delight to masculine roar which greeted the telling swats and the spectacular plays of both sides. To the credit of Danville's baseball crowds and their justice and impartiality, the home runs made by the Greensboro batsmen and the men who smashed the ball over the fence were acclaimed as generously as if Danville players had turned the trick.

Besides a grandstand filled to repletion, the extended bleachers and the field seats were pre-empted soon after play began, and everybody was on tiptoe of expectation. The grandstand and bleachers reserved for colored patrons were also jammed, and no part of the big crowd was more enthusiastic and delighted than these loyal fans. All the season they have turned out and rooted for Owner Murphy's men and have often set the spark of wit and humor which ignited the enthusiasm of the entire crowd.

Outside the park, on Bradley road, on North Main street from far south of the street car line terminus out almost to the old reservoir and in every by-road, nook and corner adjoining room a wilderness of motor-cars was parked. All these discharged their human freight which went to swell the crowd in the baseball inclosure. Probably three-quarters of a million dollars worth of cars negotiated the North Main hill and contributed to the stream of cars which emptied into this human reservoir.

With all this crowd and the great jam of vehicles, no accident marred the occasion, and the traffic officers at vantage points directed the movement with good judgment, and fairness to all. But besides the great group of motor-vehicles, the Danville Traction and Power Company's cars handled capacity crowds every trip in the journey to the park and on the return when the game closed and both safety and the best order signalized the occasion, a gala one indeed.

When the great audience had seen the two teams successfully engaged in warming-up practices and just before the time to call play, a great floral horseshoe was carried to the space near the batsman's box and there presented to the Owner-Manager Mr. Murphy. C. T. Eldridge, well known local florist, had conceived the happy idea of thus acclaiming the leader of the victorious Tobaccoists and it was he who presented the handsome bouquet and placed it about Mr. Murphy's neck in such a way as to frame his head and shoulders. And the great crowd manifested its approval by universal applause.

The umpires appeared just before play began and had their usual exchanges of formalities with Managers Carroll and Murphy, received a copy of the batting order of each team, saw that the field was cleared and then announced the batteries. When it was assured that Pitcher Wilson would be the Danville pitcher, the crowd warmly acclaimed this efficient and popular player. Umpire Morgan judged balls and strikes. Umpire Tandy was near first base and Umpire Osborne was off third. As the Danville team trotted out on the field and the men scattered toward their several positions, there was another demonstration of enthusiasm.

Center Fielder Shay, a great batsman and fielder and a fine ball player was the first batsman up. He used discrimination in watching the hurler's offerings and by watchful waiting was waved toward first base—a base on balls. It seemed a somewhat inauspicious opening for Pitcher Wilson and the spectators became quietly intent upon future developments. When the southpaw hurler forced Manager Carroll, the visitors, to pop up a foul which Dave Cochlin squeezed, the tenseness disappeared and applause ensued. Then Faber O'Hara, a left-handed batsman and a very fast man came up, he soon swung at one of Wilson's offerings and slammed it far into right field, but it was too high to carry to the fence or beyond, and Ted Smith was under it with his waiting mitt before it reached terra firma. Shay had been left stranded and the visitors retired scoreless—the signal for another outburst of Danville enthusiasm.

It was Danville's turn, and Freddie Dorman, who had been swinging a pair of bats to supply up his bluffs and flexor muscles strolled up and took his position in the batsman's box. Soon he got one of Pitcher O'Quinn's good ones to his liking and slammed it down the line, extending for two bases and the whole crowd became suddenly an animated waving, yelling, shouting mass. This enthusiasm was intensified when Bill Leard, second baseman of the champions, duplicated Dorman's drive, only he hit to extreme right, and Dorman cantered in easily with run No. 1. Ted Smith, a thorn in the side of Greensboro hurlers, in this series, was the next batsman, and he slugged a sharp safety to extreme right on which Leard scored with the second run. Still Pitcher O'Quinn occupied the dizzy summit of the mound, but when Floyd Trexler, Danville's clean up man, smashed a single through to center and Shay let the ball elude him, Smith scored and Trexler went to second. O'Quinn "got the hook" and Jerry Jackson took up the pitching burden. Resco, the first man who faced Jerry, grounded to Tommy Magrann at short and was out at first. Eddie Regan was hard to pitch to and drew a pass, and a moment later was perched on third by reason of Catcher Pierre's bad throw. Manager Murphy slammed a long fly to extreme right which Harris dropped, Regan scoring on the misplay. Trexler having already registered on Resco's out. With Murphy on first, Dave Cochlin, a batting star of the series, hammered a hard drive to left-center on which the manager reached third and caused the crowd to emit a vivid spark of renewed and hilarious enthusiasm. The setup on Pitcher Jackson was in a state of condition by reason of a lame left arm, was adjudged guilty of a balk, and Murphy cantered in while Cochlin ambled to third. Pitcher Wilson popped up a fly to short for the second out, and when the whirling pitcher Jackson was displaced by Pitcher Crews, who had been warming up for the succession. This veteran walked Dorman, who had faced three pitchers in this inning, but Leard, the eleventh man up, rapped a boundary to Teague and was retired on the same way. Handicapped by a six-run lead, the Greensboro men were still full of fight and hopeful of a successful stern chase, especially when Crews did four innings of fine pitching. Meanwhile in the third inning, Wilson's only weak one, Crews opened with a single and scored ahead of Shay when the fleet outfielder drove the ball over the barrier in left center. Manager Carroll singled to left, and it began to look like Wilson was in a draining. However, he grounded to the ubiquitous Dorman and Carroll was forced at second. Teague singled over Leard and advanced O'Hara to second, but Conley rapped sharply to Wilson, who forced O'Hara at third. Then Harris, who had been in the jaws of defeat by hitting into Dorman's bailiwick, and the visitors had to be content with their brace of tallies. After that little display of fireworks, Wilson was master of his opponents, and Crews threatened to hold the score to 3 to 3 and did, until the busy sixth inning.

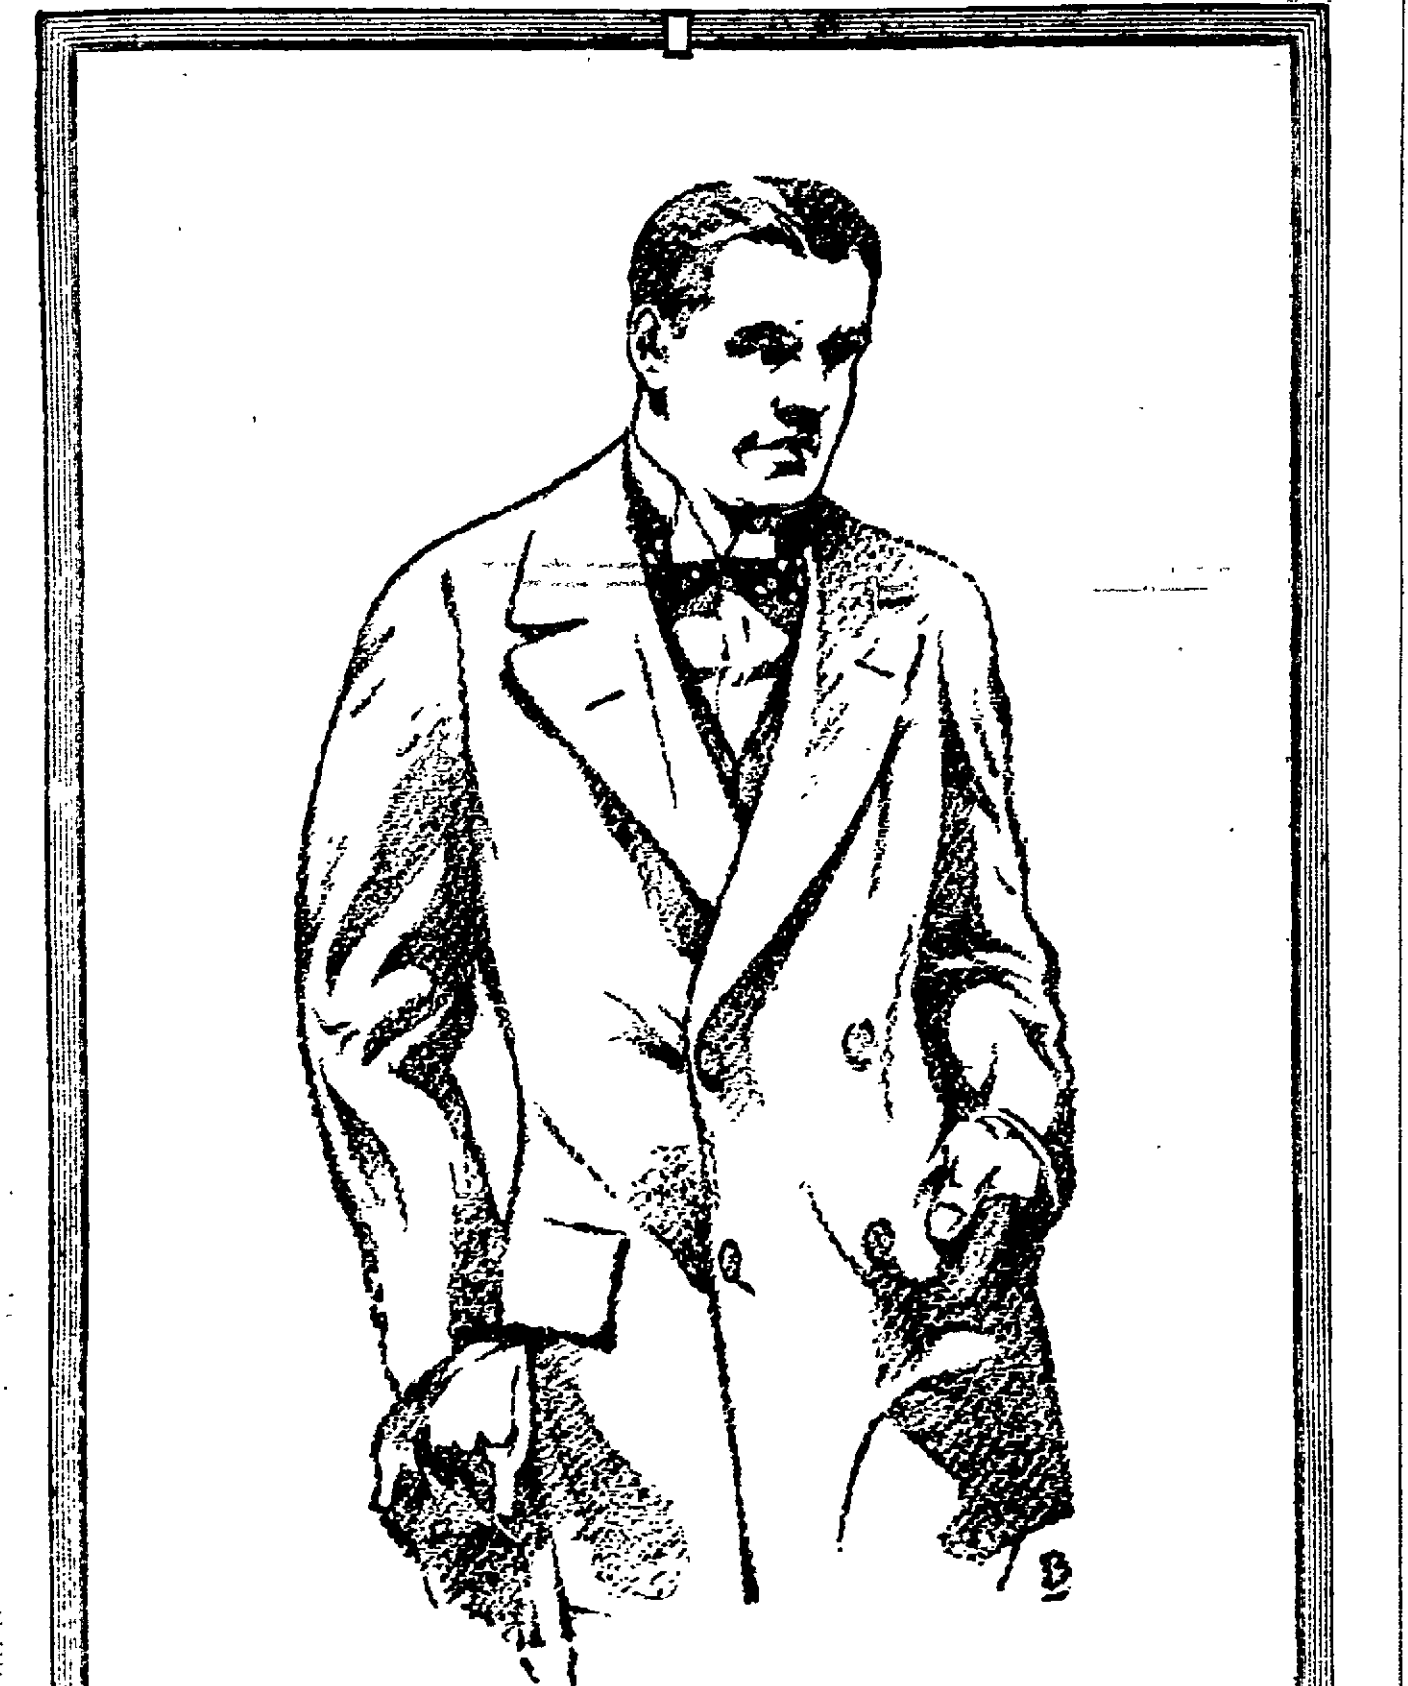

Smith opened the sixth with a pass and advanced to third on Trexler's second single. Resco's slugging prowess may have had something to do with the pass issued him by Crews, for he walked. With three on and none out, Regan rapped to Conley, who cut Smith down at the plate. There were still three on when Herb Murphy smashed a long hit to extreme right, scoring Trexler and advancing Resco. Dave Cochlin cracked out his third hit and Resco and Regan registered, making the score 9 to 3, with Wilson still shoeing the visitors away from the plate. They had gotten two hits off his twisters in the 4th and two more in the fifth, but fast double tragedies by Wilson, Dorman and Resco and Leard-Dorman-Resco spilled the Greensboro beans, or dashed their aspiring hopes. After the fifth, the Carrollites could get but one hit an inning until the ninth when they managed to land a tw-shion shot, a single netting a final run.

But Danville was not through and did not intend to take any chances on a ninth inning rally by the Carrollites, and so in their eighth they added a brace of runs and boosted their total to double figures—twaps. Regan hit a hard one to Crews, which he partially stopped and deflected upward on a high bound, enabling the sprinter to beat Magrann's throw to first. Murphy's slow grounder to short enabled Eddie to reach the keystone cushion, and then Dave Cochlin drilled Magrann through with a sharp grounder, advancing Eddie to third. Then Cochlin and Regan pulled off a daring double steal on which Regan registered. Cochlin counted when Harris misjudged and dropped Dorman's fly to short right, and that was all the scoring until Magrann opened Greensboro's final despairing try with a single to right, and Pitcher Crews pounded one which hit the left field fence above Trexler's reach and rebounded far into the field. But the next three men went out in order.

An analysis of the play shows that Danville outfielders had but two put-outs, both by Smith, while Trexler and Regan had no chances. It will also show that Dorman accepted all of 13 chances at short, while his neighbor, Leard, at second took care of an even dozen. Wilson, as usual, fielded his position well, while Smith made another of his fine throws, this time to third, trapping Pierre between bases. Leard made a pretty trap-ouch of Murphy's quick line drive to force Conley at second on Pierre's rap in the eighth. On the other hand, the visitors' fielding was ragged, a total of six errors being charged against them. The only thing resembling an error by the local fielders was Leard's momentary fumbling of Harris' boundary to deep short, but since it would hardly have been possible for his throw to beat the runner, even had he handled the ball cleanly, Harris is credited with a hit and the fielder exonerated from an error. It was the inferior fielding of several who minutely watched the play, that Dorman could not have gotten the runner at the base. The fielding of Conley, Teague and Magrann for the visitors was clever even though Magrann did not one of nine chances, he threw him.

The cracking of the visitors' pitching staff and the fact that Jackson was out of condition proved the undoing of the Greensboro team in the whole series. The working of several pitchers in every game, and the fact that the condition of the pitchers was not the best, O'Quinn's work was disappointing to the Greensboro contingent, for he was forced to retire in both his starts whereas he beat Danville and held the team to a single run just before the close of the regular season. The veteran Crews did the best work of all the Greensboro hurling staff in holding the Tobaccoists scoreless in 4-1-3 innings when they had been hitting O'Quinn and Jackson.

On the other hand, the fine condition of every man on the Danville team enabled the regular line-up to work smoothly throughout the series and even when the pitchers faltered on Tuesday and Wednesday, the brilliant support accorded them saved them from a single defeat. Altogether all the local have played their part in the work of a smoothly moving organization on defensive and an always dangerous aggression on the offensive. Cochlin, Regan, Trexler, Leard and Dorman all bettered their batting records in yesterday's game; Pitcher Wilson won two of the four games and was the only Danville pitcher started who did not have to be relieved. He has been the Nemesis of the Carroll combination for a month or more past.

Danville's Great Baseball Team Disbands Today

The greatest club that the Piedmont League ever had will be disbanded today, according to a statement made last night by Manager Murphy to a Register reporter, when he announced that he would let the players who composed the pennant winning aggregation leave for their homes today.

This means that there will be no post-season series between Danville and the winner of the Virginia-South Atlantic post-season series now being played.

The climax was reached here in baseball yesterday when Murphy's team battered its way through the Carrollites in the final game of the championship series. Manager Murphy figured, and with good reason, that interest in the national pastime would lag now that the most important goal had been reached. A post-season series with the winner of the Virginia-South Atlantic series would be just more baseball; certainly there would not be the rivalry that exists between this city and Greensboro. The series probably would not be a financial success, and since Danville has achieved financial success during the season that has just closed there is doubtful reason in running the risk of dissipating this success.

In addition all of the players are eager to return to their homes; many of them have made their plans for the fall and winter and these plans call for immediate attention. Some of the men have been promised their release for the season after the post-season series and with these players gone the team would be weakened. All things considered Murphy came to the conclusion that the best thing to do was to call it a season—a big season—and quit until the tulips had forth next Spring.

To Manager Murphy goes the chief honors for the success of the local team. He assembled the team through much labor, picking and choosing; he has kept the team together, strengthening it from time to time by bringing off weak members at times; inspiring the men with fighting spirit and directing the team work on the field. In addition he has had the business details of the club to look after. In this he has been ably assisted by Mrs. Murphy. She has labored not less than Mr. Murphy to assure the success of the team.

When the High Point management attempted to jeopardize Danville's chances of securing the pennant by protesting certain games in which Pitcher "Cudge" Harris had been played, burning and losing at difficult fight on his hands, but he finally came off victorious at a meeting of the league moguls in Greensboro. ## YANKEES CLINCH AMERICAN RAC

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The New York Yankees clinched their third successive American league pennant here today, defeating St. Louis in the first game of the series, 4 to 3. New York's margin is the greatest in either major league in many years. Sam Jones won his twentieth game of the season though he was harassed by St. Louis in the late innings. The Yankees bunched their hits to good effect on Vangilder. Severid was hit in the head with a foul ball in the second inning, and was forced to retire.

Au Revoir "Fighting Virginians"

Today Manager Herb Murphy gathered together for the last time as a unit the greatest baseball machine Danville ever supported, and without a doubt one of the smoothest working outfits ever to perform in the Piedmont wheel. Today Murphy's Fighting Virginians, who have won the admiration of Virginia and Carolina by their clean uphill fight, were disbanded for all time. Danville will have another ball club but there will be new faces in the roster. Some of the boys will have passed to higher company, some to other clubs and circuits, some will be back, but the 1923 pennant winners have played their last game together.

As the leaves had forth in the spring and the deserted ball barks are drenched with April showers America will again turn to her greatest pastime, and along with the others the majority of the players who put Danville on the map will return to the game. It is impossible for the fans of this city and section to thank you, but, boys, as long as the sun shines on the rippling waters of the Dan, Danville will not forget, and for that fandom.

DOUBLE BILL IS SPLIT.
(By The Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 20.—Cincinnati and Philadelphia broke even in their final double bill of the season today, the visitors winning the first game, 2 to 0, and the home team taking the second 8 to 7 in eleven innings. Both League and Glazner pitched great ball in the first game, the two Philadelphia runs being due to errors by Fowler, a recruit shortstop. The second game was a slugfest, in which both Benton and Ring were knocked out of the box early. The Phillies tied the score on three hits off Harris in the ninth but the Reds got the winning run in the last half of the eleventh on Roush's single, his stolen base and a hit by Wingo. First game—score: R H E Philadelphia . . . 000 010 001—2 6 0 Cincinnati . . . 000 000 000—0 6 4 Glazner and Henline; Luque and Hargrave.

Second game: R H E Philadelphia . . . 003 101 002 00—7 11 2 Cincinnati . . . 200 500 000 01—8 13 1 Ring, Head, Bishop and S. Wilson; Benton, Harris and Wingo.

BROOKLYN 9; CHICAGO 7.
CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Brooklyn made it two games out of three from Chicago today, winning the final contest 9 to 7. The game was a free hitting affair in which extra base hitting was the feature. Score: R H E Brooklyn . . . 301 010 400—9 13 0 Chicago . . . 041 000 011—7 16 0 B. Grimes and Taylor; Wheeler, Osborne and O'Fall.

DETROIT WINS AND TIES.
(By The Associated Press)
BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Detroit won the opening game of today's double header from Boston, 5 to 4. The second game was called at the end of the tenth inning on account of darkness, with the score 2 to 2. The winning run in the first game resulted from hits by Cobb and Pratt and McMillan's error in the ninth inning. Piercy held Detroit to two hits in the second game until the eighth inning, when a pass to Heilmann and singles by Pratt, Rigney and Bassler gave the visitors two runs.

First game: R H E Detroit . . . 100 000 301—5 10 1 Boston . . . 111 000 100—4 12 2 Elliott, Daus and Woodall; Bassler, Murray, Quinn and Pichich.

PHILADELPHIA 5; CHICAGO 3.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—Philadelphia went into a tie for sixth place today by defeating Chicago 5 to 3. The visitors out-hit the Athletics but could not punch their safeties when hit counted. Neither side made an extra base hit. Score: R H E Philadelphia . . . 000 001 110—5 9 1 Thurston and Crouse; Hasty, Raimel and Perkins.

NO MATCH ARRANGED.
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—There will be no match race between Zev and My Own for the honor of meeting Papyrus, English Derby winner, in the international race at Belmont Park on October 20, Sam Hildreth, Rancocas Stable trainer, said today. Zev will not engage in any race, he said, until the date set for the invasion of Papyrus. Hildreth made his statement to Low Jenkins, of the Laurel Track, Md., who had offered a $50,000 purse for a meeting between the two horses.

All Over.
Baseball is not, and even the best of fans would have doubted the final outcome one month ago. It was Greensboro, self-proclaimed "Cream of the Loop," who lost to Danville, giving them second place in the White Sox series. Making such a spurt, and it was Greensboro who dropped the post-season series. Couldn't have come in a niftier manner.

Greensboro Forgetful.
Either because of their lack of love for Danville or their disgust at Carroll's crew, Greensboro almost overlooked the final and deciding tilt. About one dozen lines they gave to Danville's first Piedmont pennant. Didn't even mention "Lefty" Wilson's "Hoodoo," which in our mind some big league scribe will be terming "hurling par excellence" some of these days. Maybe we'd have tried to overlook it too if we had touted a club that couldn't win none of a championship series.

Fought in Vain.
Carroll and his men fought for every game they lost. Their defeats is no discredit to them, because it came at the hands of one of the greatest clubs ever assembled in the Piedmont. Danville had the best club in the loop. A glance at the standing in the season had not been split would have shown that. In fact it would have been a one club race.

Herb Murphy.
Herb Murphy gave the city her first Piedmont pennant, and he may turn in others as the years go by, but fans who are inclined at times to razz the Virginian pilot should remember a few incidents of the series just closed. Around 3,000 people were turning out for each game. Now just how much money such crowds were worth to the owner of the club is not known, but it was no few simoleons. Still, Herb Murphy won four straight games. Seeing his club's superiority over Greensboro Murphy might have let the series ramble on for seven games and still on the hunting in addition to corraling several thousand extra bucks. Money meant nothing to Herb. He was fighting for a pennant for Danville. He went into every game to win, and won. Murphy "played the game on the square" as he has played it all year despite protests and razzes, and it was a matter of thousands he overlooked in not taking even a slight chance on losing the series. Paste this memory back in your hat rack and when Murphy again guides the destiny of your club remember you have a manager who is a man to the core.

That Last Slaughter.
It was slaughter all right. Every member of the club fattened his batting average with the exception of Resco, and the big first-sacker knowing if he connected the missing horsehide would cost Herb several bucks and setting no necessity he just banged 'em around inside. Eddie Regan, Dave Cochlin and Floyd Trexler led the stickwork and the rest were tagging close behind. Sam Falk Crews, Dave Harris, Shay, Magrann and Teague contributed to "Lefty" Wilson's punishment. On the defensive the main feature was the speed with which both clubs chased around after the hits.

"Lefty" Wilson.
As students of the game prophesied the "Iron Man" turned in two victories during the series. If it had been necessary no one doubts that Lawrence Girard would have made it three. There was nothing exceptionally brilliant about his work yesterday but it was needed. Several dangerous times the southpaw gave them his cross-fire, under which the best fall, but taking the game as a whole "Lefty" didn't have to exert himself, his slugging teammates took care of his margin.

Appreciation.
The fans of Danville certainly are showing their appreciation of their 1923 pennant winners. The boys have been disposing of suppers and odd favors for several nights past, and if old Rumor rambles right they are in for another before the year is out. The subscription list is playing with the $1,000 mark—the spirit of Harry Lea, one of the most ardent fans of the city now on the South Carolina tobacco markets, expresses the spirit of all. Harry wired, "Tell all the boys to go to Arch Turner's and get a five dollar hat on me."

Lonesome Days.
The major circuits are the whole attraction now. The Giants and the Reds, the Yankees and then the big series will be the fans method of consolation until another season rolls around.

It took two games to one for the Virginia League pennant winners. The local club won the game in the fifth inning when Suckratt blew up and allowed 3 singles to fit the bases and Fried who relieved him walked the next three batters and then allowed five hits, a sacrifice and a hit batsman to bring in nine tallies for the frame.

Both clubs started off strong, when each made a home run in the first frame. A home run for the visitors after two men had walked giving them three, while a single and a home run accounted for two for Charlotte and the third came on a three bagger and a long sacrifice fly. Until the fifth frame it was a pitchers' battle between Pope and Suckratt, and then the visiting hurler blew up. Pope developed wildness in the eighth frame, and was relieved by Darley, who held the visitors safely.

Score by Innings: R H E. Wilson . . . 300 020 020—7: 7: 0 Charlotte . . . 300 050 013—13: 14: 0 Suckratt, Fried, Morin and Head; Pope, Darley and Kennedy.

Foster Recalls 1907 World Series When Chicago Beat Detroit

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
(Special Correspondent of The Bee.)
(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee.)

Again the West was the scene of the world series in 1907 but the White Sox were nosed out for the championship in the American League by the Detroit Tigers and it was the latter team that faced the Chicago Cubs, who profited by their experience of the year before. Although the Detroit held the Cubs to a tie in the first game, Chicago won the next four and the series. The record:

At Chicago, October 8—Chicago, 3; Detroit, 3; (12 innings).
At Chicago, October 9—Chicago, 5; Detroit, 1.
At Chicago, October 10—Chicago, 5; Detroit, 1.
At Detroit, October 11—Chicago, 6; Detroit, 1.
At Detroit, October 12—Chicago, 2; Detroit, 0.

The players of the Chicago team were: Hank Jennings, manager; Rossman, 1b; Schaefer, 2b; Coughlin, 3b; O'Leary, ss; Davy Jones, lf; Cobb, cf; Crawford, rf; Schmidt, c; Payne, c; Archer, c; Killian, p; Mullin, p; Donovan, p; and Siever, p.

A missed third strike by Schmidt permitted the Cubs to tie the score in the margin.

Fistic Chatter for the Fans
(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Battling Siki bowed his head in Washington Heights Court today—just to the margin—before Morpheus. He was there for alleged violation of the boxing law. The Senegalese, once a problem to the police of Paris, but now a resident of Yonkers, dozed peacefully on a rear bench of the court room until his case was called. At that moment he awoke and continued to wonder what it was all about until the case was adjourned. He gathered that it was some stupid American law, but everything was friendly and it wasn't nearly so serious as a general court martial. Far more important was the fact that he had been out on a party such as only Harlem can afford and that he needed sleep.

Siki, or Louis Fall, as his name was recorded on the blotter, was charged with violation of the state boxing law. With him were hailed to court his manager, his sparring partner, two white featherweights and the manager of the theatre at which he has been appearing. The case was adjourned until tomorrow so that a representative of the boxing commission might be present. Bail for Siki and his entourage was fixed at $25 each.

Richard Cunningham, attorney for the men, argued that the boxing exhibition had not violated the law, as no prize was offered.

Unless some important match comes up at the last minutes Benny Leonard will leave next week for an exhibition tour. In all probability the lightweight champion's first stop will be Troy, N. Y., where he expects to appear next Monday night. Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, is figuring out how much money he will have to return on the Leonard-Dundee the first game when the Tigers apparently had it won. Evers tried to steal home after that but was caught at the plate. In the twelfth Slagle tried to score on a passed ball but was called out for interference of Steinfield.

The series was marked by better pitching by the Chicago stars and when it was over "Wild Bill" Donovan made a public statement that the Cubs were a better team and deserved to win.

Steinfeldt was the batting leader. He had a percentage of 470 and played in all five games. Rossman was Detroit's best batter with a mark of 400. Ty Cobb failed to shine as he had been expected to do and National League partisans lost no opportunity to give him the razz, a slang expression unknown, however, to the fans of that day. At his last time at bat in the series Cobb struck out.

Not a home run was made in the series and only three triples, Steinfieldt, Cobb and Rossman making one each.

And odd feature of the series was the indifference of the Detroit public. The attendance at Chicago was nearly 60,000 for the three games while at Detroit less than 19,000 turned out for the two games. Detroit fans seemed to regard it as a forgone conclusion that the Cubs would win.

Prior to this particular series it had been decided to give the winning players 60 per cent. of the players' share and the losers 40 per cent. Instead of the former split of 75 and 25.

fight which was called off yesterday by the promoter, Jimmy Johnston. Gibson is also trying to line up some young fighters for the champion's barnstorming trip.

Harry Willis was matched tonight to battle Homer Smith, the Michigan heavyweight who stood off Luis Firpo for ten rounds, in a fifteen round bout next Thursday night at Queensboro Stadium.

Eddie Kane, manager of Tommy Gibbons, is en route to the Pacific coast where he expects to catch up with his batter in Los Angeles. Kane had a talk with Tex Rickard and the promoter informed him that Gibbons would be welcome on a Garden card any time this winter. The St. Paul fighter is willing to take on anybody who may be selected, but the most likely looking match is with Georges Carpentier, who plans another American invasion if he defeats Joe Beckett in London on October 1.

A bout between Phil Bernstein, junior lightweight champion and Rocky Kansas is in the making for Madison Square Garden early in the winter.

STILLS ARE SEIZED

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—In its fight against moonshining the federal government seized more than 5,000 stills during the last fiscal year, according to figures made public today by prohibition commissioner Hayes. Less than 300 prohibition agents participated in the seizures.

Besides the stills, the federal agents confiscated 2,000,000 gallons of mash, 50,000 gallons of whiskey, 9,000 gallons of pomade, 21,481 fermenters, 30 copper coils, and 25 pistols, revolvers and rifles.

PITCHER SHINES WITH WILLOW

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Most big league twirlers are poor batters. But this does not hold good for Pitcher Thurston of the Chicago White Sox. He's such a dangerous man at the bat that the White Sox are seriously thinking of converting him into an outfielder or trying him out at first or struck at and missed.

Manager Kid Gleason of the Chicago White Sox considers Thurston one of the best relief pitchers in the big show. Had he a better fast ball he would be a regular starter for the White Sox. He has most deceptive fadeaway, a good curve and a fine change of pace, but his fast ball lacks a bit of the old "zip."

Thurston is the pitcher who recently retired the Philadelphia team one nine successive strikes in one inning, all of the pitchers being called or struck at and missed.

Daily Puzzle

A big Indian and a little Indian were walking down a road. The little Indian was the son of the big Indian. Nevertheless, the big Indian was not the father of the little Indian. Can you explain this curious relationship—or lack of relationship?

Yesterday's answer:

10	6	20	4	18	2
30	0	8	14	12	26
32	46	24	0	26	38
50	40	4	34	10	18
16	18	26	26	13	10
12	28	16	22	2	4

Many possible combinations of the above squares may be crossed out to make a total of 99. The number 13, however, must appear in every combination, as it is the only odd number among the squares, and an odd number must appear in the addition. Three is the smallest number of squares necessary. Squares 46, 40, and 13 make up the combination.

EXPERT TELLS
HOW TO PROTECT
GARDEN PLANTS

REDAVILLE, Mass., Sept. 20.—Put a damp, warm air jacket on your garden plants if you want to protect them from frost this autumn. That is the advice of Alexander McArdle, director of the Blue Hill Observatory, who speaks as one with authority on the subject because of his success in aiding orange growers in California to keep their crops from freezing.

"Your grandmother probably loved flowers and took good care of them," said Director McArdle, who also is professor of meteorology at Harvard. "She had the right idea, when the crisp early fall nights came round, of protecting the flowers from frost by wrapping newspapers around them carefully, pinning the paper so that there would be no gaps and wide-open places. In this way her plants would keep their blossoms until October."

"But grandma did not know it all; we think we know a little more than the old lady did. We now wrap the newspaper around the plant just as before, but after pinning it tightly we twist another sheet of paper into something like a rope about an inch thick and pin it in place. We then take a third sheet and wrap it around just as was done the first sheet. We now have an air space about an inch thick between the two wrappings and this air jacket prevents loss of heat. It is an excellent heat insulator. We have practically bottled up the inside hot air around the plant, and if this is done about three o'clock in the afternoon it is almost as effective as keeping a small stove near the plant. Also we should sprinkle the plant and the ground with water, sprinkle it well before we wrap the papers around it."

"Use water the plants freely, cover them tightly, put an air jacket on them and after uncovering the next morning sprinkle again with water that is rather cold. Don't use hot water. And shade the plants from the sun for several hours."

"Of course for garden truck, larger gardens and orchards, where the protection of the crop is a commercial problem, it is more practical to cover with light cloth or use orchard heaters, oil pots, etc. Besides heating, the smoke serves a screen or cover."

SWEETZER WINS
WAY INTO GOLF
SEMI-FINALS

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Jess Sweetzer, New York, defending champion, won his way into the semi-finals of the national amateur golf championship by defeating the Boston Sage, Jesse Guilford, 2 and 1, in the third round of play at Flossmoor country club. Sweetzer will have as his opponent tomorrow Bob Gardner, of Chicago, who had a rather easy time of it in the third round, downing Denmore Shute of Huntington, W. Va., 6 and 5.
In the other half, Francis Outmet of Boston, who had a tough match today in defeating George Von Elm of Salt Lake City, 2 and 1, will meet Maxwell Marston of Philadelphia, who won from Joe Wells of East Liverpool, Ohio, 4 and 3.
In their battle of pars and birdies today, Sweetzer and Guilford displayed golf worthy of champions and were followed by a gallery of 2,000 until the spectators switched over to the medal play-off between Bobby Jones and Chick Evans, which Jones won.
The course was heavy today on account of rain but the scoring was good for the most part.
The largest gallery of the week thus far followed the players and when all the spectators centered on the play-off between Jones and Evans there was almost a stampede for advantage positions. The onlookers were well rewarded for Evans gave a display of deadly iron shooting in the first half that made the spectators gasp and Jones demonstrated his prowess at the same game in the second half where he clipped four strokes off par while Evans was one over and lost 36-35 to 37-34-71. They had tied in the qualifying round at 75-74-149.
On the basis of their play thus far Sweetzer was a slight favorite over Gardner for tomorrow's semi-finals and while Marston has played better rounds than any thus far played by Outmet the latter was the favorite among the experts. Whether the title goes to the Bostonian, the Philadelphian, the New Yorker, or the Chicagoan the next meet will go to the Merion Club, Philadelphia.

GRIEF OF A FATHER

The most extraordinary monument in Illinois is in the rural cemetery at Addison, Vermillion county. Erected by a grief-stricken father over the body of his 15-year-old daughter, it shows a reproduction of the old homestead, farm animals, and many of the childish expressions of the dead child.

UNUSUAL FOLK
IN DAY'S NEWSHe's Uncle Of
The President

(Special to The Bee.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—In the little town of Welsh, adjoining the Louisiana rice plantation he tills, lives Farmer Hiram Moor. A farmer he is, indeed, but also Farmer is rightly his name, given by his father, Hiram Dunlap Moor, himself a farmer, near Plymouth, Vt.
Farmer Moor's youngest sister Victoria, married John Coolidge, and their son is Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States.
"Calvin was a puny child, pindling," says Farmer Moor. "When I left Vermont to settle in Iowa he was a very little boy and I wondered if he would live to grow up. That this trail child has attained the position he occupies shows how God's plan was working in his life—as it works in every life. And now I know that Calvin will be elected president in 1924. Nothing can hinder that. It is God's plan."
Farmer Moor, first transplanted in Iowa from Vermont, and then in Louisiana from Iowa, is yet distinctly the New England type, a simple, clean-living, hard-working, God-fearing old man of 75.

CORP. TUCKER
BREAKS RECORD

(By The Associated Press)
CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 20.—In winning the individual rifle match at the international rifle association tournament with a score of 224 out of a possible 225, Corporal James A. Tucker, of the United States marine corps, broke the world's record for this match, which was fired on the 800, the 300 and 1,000 yard ranges.
Corporal Tucker dropped one point on the 1,000 yard range. Captain J. Campbell, of the Coast Artillery corps, finished second with 223, equalling the former record established by Corporal N. C. Reeves, of the United States Marine Corps at Seaside, N. J., in 1914. Captain Campbell also dropped his points on the 1,000 yard range. Many of the contestants were tied for third place with total of 222.
Miss Eatheryn Edmonston, 19 year old Washington girl, was a member of the District of Columbia team of six, which won the United States short range match fired on the small bore range, with a score of 2324 out of a possible 2400. This is the first time a girl has been a member of the winning team in this match. Miss Edmonston landed third in the team individual scores. The Ohio team was second with 2320 and the Pennsylvania team third with 2315.
Rain interfered with today's program of the national rifle matches, some of the opening events being postponed until tomorrow.
